His funeral took place on Thursday, at his late residence, No. 250 East 32d st, and was largely attended.

Study of Waterproofing Materials.

Committee "S" on Waterproofing Materials of the American Society for Testing Materials held its second meeting in the rooms of the Chemist Club in this city recently. As there are two distinct classes of waterproofing materials, the committee has been divided into two sub-committees "A" and "B." Committee "A" is to study waterproofing materials that are mixed with cements or mortars to render them impervious and also washes that are applied to the exterior of concrete and masonry. Committee "B" is on bituminous waterproofing; that is, that class of waterproofing where a bitumen is applied to a structure either with or without some medium such as felt and paper and specially prepared cloth.

A brief discussion was entered into at the meeting as to the scope of the work of the committee. It was decided that even though the success of the waterproofing often largely depends on the proper designing of the structure, it was hardly the province of the committee to recommend designs for waterproofing construction. After an interesting discussion as to how the subject of waterproofing materials should be studied it was decided that while the principal details of this should be left to the chairman of the sub-committees, the subject, however, is of such importance and so often neglected that the necessity of giving it closer attention will be brought before the society in a preamble to the report of the chairman of the committee. The investigation should be along the following lines: (a) whether or not the waterproofing materials act injuriously on the mediums with which they are applied; such as felt, canvas, etc., or if applied direct to the structure will they act injuriously on the concrete or metal to which they are applied; (b) a study of the

It is considered, both from architectural and mechanical standpoints, one of the best examples of its class of building in this country. Among the several highly commendable features of this structure, the Architectural Iron Work, including window frames and sashes, stairs, railings, etc., all manufactured and installed by the Hecla Iron Works, stands out boldly as a master specimen of mechanical handiwork.

permanency of waterproofing materials under surrounding conditions such as water-gas drip and caging by oxidation by molecular change, etc.

It is the purpose of the committee to issue a circular letter to all manufacturers of waterproofing materials asking them for descriptions of their material and how it is applied and whether they would be willing to have their materials examined and the results of such examinations published. It is also the purpose of the committee to send circular letters to all engineers and architects that might be informed on waterproofing for suggestions of materials and methods of waterproofing.

After an exhibition of various waterproofing materials by various members of the committee and a discussion of their practical value the meeting adjourned. The following day was spent by the committee visiting various types of waterproofing in the city. It will be of great aid to the committee to receive any information on the subject of waterproofing, and it is hoped that any one having any information on the subject, no matter how small, will communicate with the secretary of the committee, Mr. A. W. Dow, District Building, Washington, D. C.

The Currency.

One of the oldest members of the Stock Exchange, Mr. Burras, of H. K. Burras & Co., said the other day: "We have had seven or eight months of good and active prosperity in Wall st chiefly caused by the large earnings of the railroads and industrials. The latter, especially such as steel, car foundry, pressed steel car and others have made great advances. A few years ago people were looking to see whether the railroads and industrials could pay interest and dividends, but now it is a question how much larger the dividends are going to be. An open winter has made the earnings very great. The Western, Southwestern, Eastern and indeed all roads are plethoric with prosperity. After this big financial debauch the reaction we have been having for the last six weeks is natural. If anything important should have happened while the market was at high pressure stocks would have fallen in a couple of days as much as they have recently in six weeks. This would have greatly unsettled Wall st. As to the talk about Wall st getting to be the financial centre of the world, we must first of all look to the currency question. We need a more elastic medium of exchange. Our banks are now doing business in the same way as thirty years ago. Money gets into the U. S. Government Treasury and it is hard to get out. Conservative operators look for a decided improvement in the late spring when we shall have heard something about the crops. The present reaction is healthy, as it curbs wild speculation. We may have a swinging stock market. That is to say when stocks get weak it is well to buy, and when strong to sell to some extent—in short, a good traders' market. Union Pacific is one of the roads that has shown the growth and prosperity of the country during the last fifteen years. From bankruptcy it has come to be one of the greatest railroads in the country, owing to excellent business management. It shows a large surplus, pays increased dividends and may be looked upon rather in the light of a banking institution than as a railroad. The steel stocks also have made very large earnings."

Speculators are active in securing options on property in the vicinity of the Mamaroneck and Larchmont in anticipation of the building of the electric road and improvements by the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

The furore of speculation that occurred in the Bronx about a year ago is not likely to be again repeated in its history as a district. Dealing in that section has now settled down to what may be termed normal conditions. It is the opinion of conservative investors that values in that section will be materially affected by the future development of parts of Long Island and of New Jersey, which will be more conveniently and in some instances more quickly reached from the central business portion of the city. Quick transit connections by means of tunnels and bridges with Long Island alone outnumber those to the Bronx. This fact has apparently been appreciated by shrewd speculators and investors resulting in a demand for property in the suburbs of Brooklyn and in Queens County. It is believed that this speculative demand will be largely stimulated in these sections during the summer. As to the Bronx itself the interests of investors seem to be directed eastward along the line of the New York and Harlem and New York and New Haven railroads. The class of residents who are likely to be identified with the Bronx as well as of the suburban sections referred to will be business people of moderate means and employees of limited incomes. The grade of retail business of the section will naturally conform to the character of the residents and while there may be substantial places of business to supply the wants of its dwellers there are not likely to be any palatial stores or temples of commerce like those of New York or Brooklyn.

DON'T GUESS

A Real Estate Information Service is as necessary in a Real Estate Broker's office as the ticker in the office of a Stock Broker.

A personally maintained Service is inefficient and inordinately expensive compared with a Big Central Cooperative Service. The Biggest Service is the best, because the advantages of Cooperation are centered there on the biggest scale.

The "Record and Guide" to-day supplies thousands of Brokers and others with information—has been doing so for a generation. Its own records cover the history of ALL transactions of every kind in New York for forty years, and in addition to these it has a COMPLETE PLANT that includes the previous period.

Obviously the "Record and Guide" possesses FULL information covering ALL particulars concerning real estate. Other systems are necessarily either partial or mere second-hand abstracts of the records which the "Record and Guide" has been gathering and publishing in the course of its forty years' history.

If you need Real Estate Information, don't guess. Don't use personal systems. Don't use partial systems. Don't use temporary systems that must be fragmentary and second-hand. Don't use systems built for the use of a few, and that offer you scarcely any of the advantages of cooperation.

USE

REAL ESTATE NOTES

J. B. English, real estate broker, has removed his offices to No. 1570 Broadway, southeast corner of 47th st. Mr. English has been an active broker in the Longacre District for some years.

The Board of Estimate has authorized the grading of Post av between Dykeman st and 10th av (four blocks). Title to the street has been legally acquired. Between Dykeman st and Academy st the land is several feet below the established grade, but the sewer has been constructed through this portion of its length. North of Academy st the land is generally very much above grade, and the work will be largely through rock. The abutting property is unimproved. All of the intersecting streets have been graded, and there will undoubtedly be activity in the vicinity in the immediate future by reason of the construction of the subway.

The Elsberg bill makes three important changes in the existing rapid transit law. In the first place it allows pipe galleries to be constructed by the commission in connection with future subways. The second change is in the method of selecting future members of the Rapid Transit Commission. Heretofore the members of the Commission have elected some one into the board to fill a vacancy. By this bill the Mayor alone will hereafter have the right to appoint all vacancies. The third and most important change gives the commission power to award separate contracts for construction, equipment, the maintenance or operation, with a further power in the city to construct, equip, maintain or operate directly for itself. The friends of the bill have argued that it was necessary for the city to have power to operate if necessary, in order to force the best terms from bidders.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows;
1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.
2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.
3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.
4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.
5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2;482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.
6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.
7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

ANY NEW YORK MAN WHO HAS A BUSINESS MUST TAKE SOME PRIDE IN HIS OFFICE. THEN

his office furniture must be in keeping with his surroundings—must be the best. That does not mean the highest priced. A moment in my store will prove it.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we given is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

A SQUEEZE in money was looked for this week in Wall Street, but it did not materialize. Easy money after the first week in April now seems assured, and the best banking opinion is that if easy money does not come in April there will be from ten to fifteen millions of gold from France to this country. It is but awaiting the money rates to be established here after the turn of the month.

THE STOCK MARKET this week has acted very much in the manner suggested and indicated in these columns. The strike issue has been discounted and fuel for a big advance in stocks has been heaping up during the past three months. Only easy money is needed to touch it off, after which the fire of speculation may be counted upon to spread well into the summer, making many new high records before it burns out. Reading and Union Pacific seem fair to be the bell-weather in the railroad list, with the metal stocks leading in the industrials. At no time during the entire boom since March, 1904, have the low priced railroad stocks had an inning. In Wall Street parlance they are overdue, and may have a whirl now. If speculation runs into railroad stocks the low priced issues will undoubtedly be the favorites with the commission houses, because requiring less capital to carry and having more margin for an advance. It is quite within the possibilities that the Erie's, Wisconsin Central, Iowa Central and Toledo, St. Louis and Western preferred and common may show an advance on the next movement of twenty points and still be relatively cheaper than at the time when their previous high records were made.

THE RATE BILL discussion will prove a sort of primer of national education on railroad values, and the pending legislation closes the book and lifts railroads out of further political discussion, stops the chronic attacks to which they have hitherto been subjected in State legislatures, and also postpones paralleling for a decade at least, or until capital shall have had a chance to observe the working of railroads under the new provisions of the law. It is by no means certain that the law has any hardship in store for railroads that is not more than offset by the abolition of free passes, the stoppage of rebates and the cessation of clubbing the large shippers through the medium of so-called terminal roads for which was exacted an arbitrary percentage of the through rate which often meant the entire profit in the business. Adding to all this immunity from paralleling it is obvious that railroad managers have a period of comparative peace ahead of them, and so in turn have the stockholders and the stock market.

SLOWLY but surely all these things will dawn upon bankers and investors here and abroad, and, taken together with the fact that no new capital issues have been made for five years—the amount of stock per mile of road being small—the next advance will find more players and fewer counters than any preceding one, and higher prices than any heretofore attained may be expected. This may be predicated from the fact that in the interval since 1901 the gross and net earnings of most railroads have increased 50 per cent., while the shares are selling for a lower price, on the average, than they were in 1901 and 1902.

THE LOCAL traction stocks begin to show undoubted signs of re-awakening. Their action at present is consistent with the handling of the Interborough stock after its birth. It will be recalled that this security was allowed to get dull and it sagged to 85, the Syndicate having paid 100 in cash for it. Participants were in the depths of discouragement, and the lower the price went the more the street was afraid of it, as if it was some slimy reptile or monster. Yet but a few weeks ago it sold at thrice 85, and the new merger stock traded in this week at 50 may make a similar record, as it is under the same direction and management. It may be trite to say that history oft repeats itself, but certainly the scare of Interborough at its inception has been repeated in the merger stocks during the past month. Why may not a similar advance be repeated? Real estate interests in this city are good judges of traction possibilities, and ought to be better judges of traction values, other things being equal, than the ordinary Wall Street speculator.

THE REVIVAL of interest and the increase in values which has been taking place in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street is the illustration of a process which has frequently occurred in the history of New York real estate. Values on an important avenue or street, may, during the early years of its real estate development, be increased to a level not justified by substantial business reasons, and a reaction may follow; but eventually the growth of the city will justify even the most extravagant anticipations. So it has been with Fifth Avenue; so it is with One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street; so it may well be with the Bowery. In 1890 and thereabouts prices on One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street were advanced to a very high level on the conviction that this street would rival some of the broader streets downtown as a shopping and amusement centre; but while many stores and places of amusement flourished in the street, it was found subsequently that they were neither as numerous as was anticipated, nor of such high grade, and a sharp reaction in values succeeded. Of late, however, there has been a gradual recovery, brought about chiefly by the building up of the upper East Side, of Harlem and of the lower part of the Bronx. The character of the business transacted in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street has not been raised to any considerable extent, but its volume has considerably increased, and many new enterprises have been started. Moreover, there is every reason to anticipate a still further improvement of the same kind. As Washington Heights becomes populated, the business men of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street have a still larger area upon which to depend for trade, while the same statement is even more true of the Bronx. It cannot be expected that this trade will be concerned with a high quality of goods, because the population of this whole neighborhood is composed of comparatively poor people, who when they want to spend more money than usual will take advantage of the improving means of communication to travel down to the big stores on Sixth Avenue, but there will be an ever larger number of prosperous shops who sell cheap goods, and of vaudeville "stock" theatres. It so happens that One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street is the only broad cross-town thoroughfare between Fifty-ninth Street and the Harlem River which runs at an even grade from the East to the Hudson River, and it is sure to get whatever general business that part of the city affords. It will probably even be more convenient for the residents of the west side of the Bronx than any centre of business which may be built upon the east side of that borough.

THE marked feature of the new development is the increase of business structures—lofts, offices, factories, and combination buildings at the points of contact at the new terminals—not the building of dwellings, as was the case in the "L" roads which first developed upper New York. In western states the alternate section plan gave value to farms and through farms to towns and cities. A government railroad grant or land provided that every alternate section should be sold by the railroad, the intervening ones being for homesteads. The line was built, land was sold by the railroads and by the government, and one complementing the other, there was a boom. The plan of development here was much the same. A car line, surface or elevated road was extended. The cost was a draft on the future. Around the stations or on the lines residences sprang up. The tendency was steadily northward. As residences increased, small stores were established, then large ones; then hotels and apartment houses. The present real estate growth is on a more healthy and genuine basis. Transportation lines are extended not to create future values, but to enhance existing ones. They are not designed so much to build up localities as to serve the convenience and promote the growth of those which have attained already some of the beneficial advantages which come from the city's industries and capital.

The Expanding Residential District on the East Side.

THE MOVEMENT which has recently been taking place in private dwellings north of Fifty-fourth Street and east of Lexington Avenue is extremely interesting. It indicates more emphatically than ever that the East Side is the one part of the city in which private houses are a very desirable commodity, and it demonstrates that the gradual increase in values which has been taking place on the East Side is due to permanently effective causes. It was just this increased demand for houses east of Lexington Avenue which was required to round out and complete the remarkable renovation of this district, which began in 1901, and which still fails by a good deal of being completed.

Its renovation has been from the start due to certain apparently arbitrary causes. In the year 1900 no one could have anticipated that the East Side would so entirely displace the West Side as the exclusive residential district. The West Side had much the same advantages as the East Side in location. The houses built in that part of the city were newer and better, and it was equally established as a desirable place in which to live. Nevertheless, ever since 1900 it has become more and more apparent that it was the destiny of the West Side to be slowly transformed into a region of apartment houses, while it was the destiny of the East Side to remain the one section of Manhattan Island in which private houses were to increase in value and in quality. During these years it has been settled that private houses in Manhattan are to be a luxury, which will be enjoyed by a constantly smaller number of people, and that the people who are willing and able to pay for this luxury would want to live in a single neighborhood. The location of that neighborhood on the East Side was due to the fact that the East Side adjoined Fifth Avenue, while the West Side was separated from it by the space of Central Park. The movement spread from Fifth and Madison Avenues east. First it raised values between Madison and Park, then between Park and Lexington, and now between Lexington and Third. East of Third Avenue it can hardly go, and it must be occupied hereafter by the task of consolidating its conquests as much as by extending their area.

This extension of the movement to the blocks east of Lexington Avenue, while in view of what has already occurred it is entirely explicable, has been very much handicapped. The old brownstone houses between Lexington and Third Avenues are mostly small structures, rarely as much as eighteen feet wide, and generally not more than fifteen feet. They belonged at the time they were built to the cheapest grade of private houses erected in Manhattan; they are difficult to improve and modernize except at a heavy expense, and even after improvement their dimensions usually make them unsatisfactory. The neighborhood of Third and Lexington Avenues is frequently very unpleasant, and the means of communication at present none of the best. If there were any streets in Manhattan which fifteen years ago looked as if they were condemned to baser rather than better uses, it was some of these streets. Yet the tendency in the direction of their improvement has proved to be irresistible. Values between Park and Lexington Avenues advanced so high that houses west of Lexington Avenue could only be afforded by well-to-do people, and there were many families of smaller means who nevertheless wished to occupy a private house in the same neighborhood as that selected by their wealthier friends. It is the demand created by families in this position which is responsible for the extension of the movement to the east of Lexington Avenue; and the character of the demand establishes a limit for the possible increase in values. Such people cannot afford to pay the prices which prevail further west, and the demand will be very much checked, at least for the time being, by any attempt on the part of speculators to run prices up too high.

The most desirable thing to do in this district at present is to reclaim certain streets which have been allowed in the past to degenerate. There are many streets in extremely desirable neighborhoods on which stables on a poor class of flats have been built, and a systematic attempt to reclaim and improve such streets ought to pay. Such attempts are, of course, attended by many difficulties; but it stands to reason that in the end every available street in the favored district will have to be put to the best use. The area of possible future extension is extremely small, and now that the streets to the east of Lexington Avenue are being occupied, future extensions will have to be made on property now occupied for the most part by flats. The effect of the subway on Lexington Avenue will undoubtedly be to extend the favored district farther and farther north, until it is met by the impassable tenement house barriers. As for Lexington Avenue itself, we imagine that a very excellent class of apartment houses may be erected on this thoroughfare. One such building is already being built on a cooperative plan at the northeast corner of Sixty-sixth Street and Lexington Avenue, and if this enterprise is successful it will be succeeded by many others.

The Water Meter Question.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

The water supply committee of the Merchants' Association, through Assemblyman Stanley, has introduced in the Assembly a bill to provide for obtaining information as to the consumption and waste of water in the city of New York. For this purpose the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity is directed, when authorized by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to designate certain districts or areas in the city of New York which, in his judgment, will furnish the best opportunities for acquiring complete and reliable information as to consumption and waste of water. To every service pipe in such district not already so equipped he is directed to attach a water meter without expense to the consumer, and is authorized, through his agents, inspectors and other persons, to enter upon any premises for the purpose of installing meters, making examinations or doing any other acts required to accomplish the purpose of this enactment. The Commissioner is required to cause inspections and readings of meters to be made at least once each month and to keep a complete and accurate record of such readings as a public record accessible to the public. The Commissioner is directed to make analyses and digests of the record, and on or before January 1, 1907, to report to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, with his recommendations as to the advisability of metering all water service pipes in the city and as to the rates which should be charged to all classes of consumers of water. All the expenses of carrying the provisions of the act into effect, including the cost of meters, are to be borne by the city of New York. The Comptroller, when authorized by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, without the concurrence or approval of any other body, is directed to issue corporate stock and make payments required to give effect to the purposes of the act.

This bill has been submitted to Commissioner Ellison and has his indorsement. The reason for it is that at present there are no complete data as to consumption of water and no means of segregating the actual consumption by various classes from the alleged waste. Practically all statements hitherto made as to the effect of metering upon the city's water consumption and the city's revenue have been assumptions based upon the experience of other cities, where the conditions are totally different from those which exist in this city. The expense of putting meters upon all service pipes in the city will be from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. Under existing provisions of law this immense outlay would be imposed upon property holders. It is not desirable to make so great an outlay, either at the public expense or at the expense of private owners, until the facts have been established by actual experience. This experience the Commissioner of Water Supply is anxious to gain through such a means as is proposed. It is believed that with several thousand meters installed, showing the actual disposal of all water which enters a given district, sound conclusions can be reached as to the extent of the waste and the extent to which that waste may be controlled by meter. It will also furnish reliable data upon which to base sound legislation, which it is the intention of the water supply committee of the Merchants' Association to formulate hereafter as the result of these experiments, provided the law is passed which will enable them to be made. H.

About 75 houses are going up in Montclair, N. J., costing about $8,000 each. The electrification of the Lackawanna Railroad is expected to make wonderful changes in this section. In the Oranges houses cannot be constructed fast enough to supply the requirements from newcomers, as New Yorkers are emigrating there in large numbers. Rutherford, Ridgewood, Englewood and Hackensack have practically the same story to tell of inability to meet the demand for homes. In Hackensack the usual rental for a cottage is $35. At Englewood 300 houses and three churches are in course of construction. Rahway has not seen so much building in a generation. In West Hoboken, Union Hill, Highwood Park and West New York there are ten applicants for every house for rent. Long Island may be having a boom, but the Jerseys are also coming on remarkably.

Long Island City's Part

In the Development of Queens Borough—Opportunities for Manufacturers and Tenement House Builders

QUEENS BOROUGH is at the present time the section of the greater city receiving the most interesting consideration from the public. Commonly speaking, it has become the "boom" section. Heretofore, centres of popular interest have been in the Bronx, in the Dyckman section and on Washington Heights; Flatbush and South Brooklyn have also attracted exceptional attention; but the present hour seems to belong to Queens.

"In twenty years Queens will be another Brooklyn," remarked a New York prospector to President Peters of the Long Island Railroad last Saturday. "Why wait twenty years?" returned Mr. Peters. "Why not make it ten?"

In ten years, then, Queens will be another Brooklyn. This concentrates into one sentence all the prophecies for Queens, and the whole business proposition as it is presented to Man-considered as in Long Island City. Fifty years ago Hunter's Point was the most retired region around New York, and it was all owned or controlled by Union College, whose policy of holding the land under long leases operated in this case to discourage settlement and growth, by the old rule applying itself that a tenant is not as interested in improving property as he would be if he owned the fee of the land. As the successor of the college in the ownership of the property, the New York Land and Warehouse Company's first step was to offer to cancel these old leases, and it succeeded in a great many instances in placing the fee of the land in the tenant, who has almost invariably improved the property.

In the course of a few years especially Long Island City has been favored with many street improvements, and is a very much different place. Miles of streets have been built, with water hattan investors by those who are on the ground. It may look to some like an exaggerated proposition, but whether it takes ten or twenty years to build another Brooklyn the probabilities very strongly favor that consummation. For one reason because the Pennsylvania Railroad interests have avowedly set about to have it done, and more dependence can be put in this fact than in any other, even though the municipal rapid transit authorities and the Belmont rapid transit interests contribute heavily to the improvements. It would seem as if the Pennsylvania interests especially, with the knowledge gained in developing the suburbs of Philadelphia, had fully settled in their own mind that Eastward and Westward have become the easiest directions for the movements of the overflow population from Manhattan, and that Long Island is the natural, and can be made the most accessible, field for settlement and development. Unquestionably the Pennsylvania intends to thickly populate the whole of Long Island if it can, and it is a corporation which does not stop to count pennies when determined on a plan. Hence, the essential thing to remember when considering Queens is that its building-up is not being left to the whims of chance, politics and individual pocketbooks, but is being engineered by the most competent corporation in the world without exception.

But more particularly this article wants to deal with Long Island City, a municipal corporation that was formed by the consolidation of a number of villages and towns, and which in turn is being assimilated into and improved by a still larger municipality, Queens. Old Hunter's Point, Astoria, Steinway, Dutch Kills, Ravenswood, Blissville and Middletown are still and sewer installations. It is the traffic center of the borough, and next to Manhattan the principal point of departure for the Pennsylvania and Belmont improvements. The year 1908 will in all probability see the new traffic lines, including the Blackwell's Island Bridge, in operation, and the entrance of a new class of investors—the class which expects to pay the higher prices which certainties always command. In the interim Long Island City is a proposition for the manufacturer and tenement-house speculator.

Analyzed, the case is like this: It is estimated that the new factories now in course of construction have caused a demand for three thousand homes beyond present local ability to supply. If one thousand tenement houses were commenced at once, they would be all rented before they could be completed. The largest land-owning syndicate in the city has been the New York Land and Warehouse Company, which is now liquidating its interests, but still owns about six hundred lots, included in which is five thousand feet of water front. Originally the company owned or controlled thirty-five hundred lots. The three elements in the business of this concern has been (1) water front, (2) factory sites, and (3) tenement and dwelling house development. Long Island City is destined to become one of the greatest manufacturing centres in the country. Every desirable facility and advantage is present and proclaims the fact. Water and rail communication in combination, at the factory door, plenty of room at a moderate price, nearness to market, low taxes and plenty of help, are the things which manufacturers look for. The list of factories built and building in Long Island City is a long one, and one of the greatest of local problems is to find housing for the employees, thousands of whom live in Manhattan because houses have not been provided near their work. Besides erecting factories for purchasers, the New York Land & Warehouse Company has encouraged the building of houses and has built a good many on its own account, for which a small partial payment has been taken, and the balance as rent. A row of two-story and basement houses are pointed out which this company sold for $3,300 each, with ten per cent. for the first payment and the balance monthly. Two rows of neat looking two-family brick houses were sold for $6,250 each; a number of frame cottages cost their first purchasers from $3,300 to $3,800. Some of the finest houses in the city were built by this company, as well as the cheaper ones referred to. Now, desiring to close out its affairs, it is offering very exceptional opportunities to builders, manufacturers and warehousemen, the sales being on a basis that enables a speculator to come in, buy direct and take one, two and even three profits on the contract.

Apart from railroad and bridge improvements, the most gigantic improvement so far projected in Long Island City is to be worked out by the Degnon Construction Co., which will by digging a large canal and filling in open up a large area for manufacturing and shipping purposes.

Present Opportunities.

BY T. B. ACKERSON,

General Manager and Treasurer of the New York Land & Warehouse Co.

Long Island City, unlike any other portion of the Queens Borough, is sure of the greatest enhancement of value in its real estate. It is already a city, thickly built up, but with a portion in the centre left unbuilt upon, and now owned by New York Land & Warehouse Company. The past has been against Long Island; the present is showing conditions rapidly bringing Long Island City to the front; the future will be a happy realizing of benefits Long Island City naturally inherits from its close proximity to the 34th Street section of Manhattan.

The New York Land & Warehouse Company, succeeding the Union College, as the largest land owners in Long Island City, have had actual experience qualifying them in making this brief review and forecast of what Long Island City was, is and is to be. A more substantial statement, verifying these assertions from a real estate point of view, is the fact that in the last year they have actually sold, approximately, $1,000,000 worth of their property, some of which has been sold to factory owners and tenement house builders. Buildings are now being erected and a goodly portion of their recent sales has fallen into the hands of astute New York investors, who, by the fact of their impressions of faith in the property evinced by their purchases, have directed other investors, and in almost every case re-sales at handsome profits have been made, and purchasers in many cases have again re-sold the land at a further profit, and in many cases the land has been sold a third time at a profit.

Practically 75 per cent. of the sales made in the last year and one-half in Long Island City have been turned over three and four times, each time at an advance. Factories located in Long Island City recently have brought about 3,000 families into the city, hence the incentive to build houses for them; the erection of tenements follow.

Unsurpassed Speculative Field.

RESIDENTIAL BACKGROUND FOR A GREAT MANUFACTURING CENTER.

By Milton L'Ecluse.

Long Island to-day offers the best speculative real estate market that there is in the United States, and there is every reason for it. No place on Long Island affords any better opportunity for speculation than Long Island City. Six months ago it was almost impossible to get anyone to talk about it. Since that time over $10,000,000 worth of property has changed hands. About half of the city has been purchased by keen business men, and is now being offered for sale at lower prices than original holders will sell.

There is no argument necessary but this: Long Island City will be the greatest factory and apartment house proposition around New York in five years. In three years at the most the Belmont tunnel, Blackwell's Island Bridge and Pennsylvania tunnel will be completed, and Long Island City will be less than five minutes from the center of Manhattan, the natural and logical territory for home-seekers. To-day there are comparatively few buyers. One year from now there will be many who will pay twice what is necessary to-day. When the improvements are completed there will be thousands who will pay the advance of five times to-day's price. It is possible to-day to buy lots from $1,000 to $2,000 each, and the choicest property ready for builders for apartments may be purchased for $3,000. It is a well-known fact that a vacant house cannot be found in the city, and the demands are increasing rapidly.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is spending several millions of dollars on its equipment, which will give the best facilities possible. They have already electrified the road from Brooklyn to Far Rockaway, and the line will probably be finished this year to Port Washington, which will bring the whole north shore within twenty-five minutes of Herald sq when the tunnel is finished.

The north shore of Long Island has many great advantages, among them being its magnificent drives and summer homes, and because of its close proximity to the most beautiful body of water, the Long Island Sound, which has brought the best class of people to its borders. This was first brought to notice by the development of the Bankers' Mortgage Co. of Elmhurst, on Flushing Bay, and also Louona Park, all the acreage in this section now being worth $5,000 per acre. This was almost immediately followed by nearly all the land being sold around Flushing, Murray Hill and Broadway, this whole section now selling for from $2,000 to $3,000 per acre.

The next on the line is Bayside, where the Bellcourt Land Co. has had a phenomenal sale of nearly 100 acres. Lots sold from $500 to $1,000 each. Property to-day at Bayside is bringing from $2,000 to $3,500 per acre. This locality is accessible to the Sound through the Bayside Yacht Club. The adjoining places are Douglaston and Little Neck, where land has reached the $3,000 per acre mark. Title has just been taken to the Douglass homestead of about 180 acres by the Douglass Manor Co. This will probably be the highest class development on the island. It has a mile of water front and most magnificent shade trees. This property will be subdivided immediately.

The next stations are Great Neck, Manhasset and Port Washington, where another class of property begins. It is just outside of Greater New York, and is surrounded by the homes of many millionaires. Much of the property is rolling ground and has beautiful views. The properties around Great Neck Station are held in large parcels by the Country Investment Co., Desmond-Dunne Co., Stuard Hirschman, Finlay-Rickert Co. and the estate of ex-Mayor Grace. One of the greatest drawbacks here has been because of no water supply. Pipes are now being laid by the Cord-Meyer Co., and will be completed before July 1, when most of the properties will be developed. Land is held here at about $2,000 an acre.

At Manhasset there are several large tracts in the millionaire section, ranging in price from $1,000 to $2,000 per acre. A new section is now to be opened in the selling of the Mitchell and Willets farms. This is a section where the water may again be reached on Manhasset Bay. The property is surrounded by Millionaire W. M. Leeds' home and Plandome mill pond, and has most advantageous water front. It is about half-way between Manhasset and Port Washington stations, which are three miles apart, so that a new station will probably be placed on the property, to be called "Plandome." It is only a short distance from Manhasset Bay Yacht Club.

A Factory and Tenement House Proposition.

A CONSIDERATION OF THE OUTLOOK FOR LONG ISLAND CITY—HOMES FOR LOCAL WORKMEN NEEDED.

By John M. Thompson.

In regard to the situation in Long Island City, Mr. John M. Thompson, of the Randolph-Thompson Realty Co., which has operated largely in Long Island City property, says:

We have been closely identified with the movement in Long Island City from its inception, or, I might say, before the movement started. I should like to preface what I have to say with the statement that the proposition is solely one of a factory and tenement house property, and in this lies the future of this section of the Borough of Queens. I can best express previous and present conditions by citing one instance. In 1904 a certain plot of lots in the Astoria section sold for $250 each, these same lots having sold at auction in 1872 at the same price. In 1906 these lots have been sold for $1,200 each, and I doubt if $1,500 or $2,000 would purchase them to-day. This is but one of the many illustrations that I can point out. In many instances the taxes and assessments—most of them unjustly imposed during the Gleason regime—have never been paid, and to-day a purchaser must assume a large amount of back taxes and assessments; but this does not seem to deter buyers, who realize the immense profits to be made at present prices, though eight or ten times as great as a few months ago.

Long Island City has had less means of access than any other part of Greater New York, its only means of access from Manhattan being the badly conducted ferries at 34th and 92d sts. With a frontage of approximately four miles on the East River, ferries beyond the two mentioned have been out of the question by reason of Blackwell's Island and Hell Gate, which take up three miles of its four miles of water front. The early completion of Blackwell's Island Bridge, the Belmont tunnel at 42d st and the Pennsylvania tunnels at 34th st have not only solved the question of transportation, but will make Long Island City more accessible than any other district around Manhattan.

When Long Island City became a part of New York it was scarcely more than a wild waste. The streets were unpaved; no sewers; a poor water supply; the school buildings old and unsanitary; the fire department (volunteer) utterly inefficient, and the police department hardly an excuse for a force in a village; the city debt was large, the taxes high, and, as I have said, in many cases unjust; and, worse still, such taxes as were collected were not expended in public improvement. The difference already is great, although there is still room for improvement.

Now miles upon miles of streets are being sewered and paved; sidewalks are being laid, and an ample supply of good water has been assured, and the fire and police protection are rapidly assuming a degree of perfection heretofore accorded to Manhattan only, and the new schools are commodious and modern in every respect.

The field of building is still undeveloped, though it is but a short while, in my opinion, when you will find builders eagerly seeking to extend their operations where land can be bought for one-tenth or one-fifteenth of the price to be paid in Manhattan, and where almost, if not quite, the same rentals can be obtained as in Manhattan; and in a section where I can say, without fear of contradiction, that there is not a tenable vacant house. New houses are rented before they are completed, and an agent in Long Island City never puts a sign on a building or advertises it for rent, as the applications of tenants far exceed any supply or expected supply. It is only necessary to notify waiting tenants that there is to be a vacancy.

Mr. John D. Crimmins, with that foresight that has marked his operations in Manhattan, has seen the "handwriting on the wall," and is now breaking ground for an operation—240 houses—second only as a single operation to the Johnson-Kahn operations in the Bronx. Much has been said and much stress laid upon the proximity of Long Island City to Manhattan, but I have not been greatly impressed by this fact, for, as I have stated, in my opinion, the situation is strictly a factory and tenement house one. Long Island City is not dependent upon Manhattan, but is a proposition by itself. Unlike the Bronx or Brooklyn, it is not dependent for its population upon Manhattan. This will be the more easily appreciated if one will stop to think and realize that Long Island City proper covers but a small area, being considerably less than one-quarter the size of Manhattan, and that into this space will be crowded in the next two or three years a population of 450,000, or nearly ten times its present population of 55,000—a population made up of operatives and their families, whose means of livelihood are confined to this space. The Pennsylvania has under way plans for the largest terminal in the world, employing not less than 5,000 employees; the Astoria Heat, Light & Power Co., also with the largest plant of its kind in the world, employing as many more; the New York Connecting Railroad, with its shops and terminals, employing 2,500 more, and numerous other factories and enterprises, each employing from 100 to 1,000 operatives.

Among the new enterprises to take advantage of the cheap locations and the unexcelled advantages of shipping by rail and water are the S. S. McClure Publishing Co., the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Billiard Co., the John Thomson Press (recently moved down from Hartford, Conn.), the Electric Equipment Co., to say nothing of such concerns whose foresight was greater and have long since been installed in Long Island City, such as the Steinway piano factories (two), the Sohmer Piano Factory, the Daimler Manufacturing Co. (gas engines), the Astoria Veneer Mills, the Astoria Silk Works, the Migil Silk Factory, the Astoria Machine Works, the Daly Boiler Works, the Hawkins Iron Construction Co., the National Bridge Works, the New York Asbestos Manufacturing Co., the New York Architectural Terra Cotta Co., the New York Sugar Refining Co., the Oakes Dye Works, the Wilson Printing Ink Works, the Lane & De Groot Marine Engine Works, the W. P. Matheson White Lead & Dye Stuff Works, the Goode Rope Factory, the Astoria Carpet Mills & Oil Cloth Factory, the Caesar's Clock Factory, the Barber Asphalt Co., the Ravenswood Paper Mills Co., the Samson Leather Tire Co., the Collins Iron Works, to all of which should be added some ten or fifteen stone working concerns and some twenty or thirty smaller enterprises that have not been enumerated; and I had almost forgotten to mention the Belmont tunnel, which must of necessity employ many men who will wish homes near this work.

For years past the cry has gone up of "one fare to Manhattan." Over there the cry is "no fare," but homes for the army of workmen who will have to pay no fare, but be within such a short distance of their work as to walk to and from their places of employment. There is no spot in this circumscribed territory that cannot be reached in thirty minutes by walking, and in making this statement I mean Long Island City and Astoria from any point of the compass in its entire area. As verification of this statement of the future, I can mention an instance of the present. Only a few days ago we had an inquiry from a manufacturing establishment of Manhattan that wishes to locate its plant in Long Island City, requesting that the location be as near as possible to the 92d st ferry, so the workmen could walk to the ferry, as there were no vacant houses in Long Island City to be had, and the workmen must return to Manhattan when their day's work was done. Should a further verification be necessary, let anyone visit the 34th or 92d st ferry (especially the latter) in the evening around 6 o'clock, and he will be struck with a condition that prevails at no other ferry from Manhattan, for he will find at these ferries, instead of the working population pouring out of Manhattan, he will find hordes of them pouring into Manhattan.

Some of the most prominent of Manhattan's speculators and investors have been wise to the situation. Among the heavy owners of real estate in Long Island City are such men as W. G.

Park, of the Steel Crucible Co., and Francis K. Pendleton, heretofore operators in the 5th av section; Jefferson M. Levy and John D. Crimmins, who have made fortunes in Manhattan realty; Maxwell S. Mannes, Alfred M. Rau, Stuard Hirschman and W. Clarence Martin, well known operators, who have heretofore confined their operations to Manhattan. The average cost of a lot to-day in Long Island City is around $1,500, while a lot in a similar location in Manhattan costs $15,000; the rentals that can be obtained per room from a house on a $1,500 lot in Long Island City is almost, if not quite, as much as that obtained from a similar house on a $1,500 lot in Manhattan. Why, therefore, should not the builder and investor put his money into Long Island City property? I do not know that I have pointed out fully the reasons for the great influx of population in Long Island City. It resolves itself into the fact that the land is cheap, the shipping facilities of the best, and the transportation facilities unexcelled to any point from Manhattan—and when the tunnels are completed the time will be but fifteen minutes from the farthestmost point of Long Island City to Herald Square.

When the Building Boom Begins

BY JOHN J. ROCHFORD.

The all-absorbing question with the wise-acres in the Long Island City realty market is: How far shall we anticipate the future? No one doubts that Long Island City will, in the near future, be a solid mass of brick tenements and factories.

On the surface, this looks like a large proposition. On the map observe that it is the last point on the river opposite Manhattan, and a very small portion compared to the balance of the city.

When the "building boom" really begins, we may expect a greater surprise than the present "boom" in prices. To those who have been on the ground and have seen prices rise in some instances 500 per cent. in three months, it is no wonder they get a little sceptical as to the outcome; but the man in East Manhattan doing business on lots valued at $15,000 when he can buy a corresponding lot on the Long Island side of the river for $1,500 does question what the past prices were. The most important feature is, that the investor expects greater profits and pays larger commissions on Long Island City property than in New York City.

It is my opinion that prices will continue to rise until about the time we may expect the bridge and tunnels to be completed; then there will come a new class of investors who are willing to pay the higher prices on a certainty, although the profits may be smaller, which is quite characteristic of the New York investor dealing on a dollar for dollar basis. Until that time arrives I expect to see the average increase in values to be about $1,000 per lot per annum.

To License Architects.

MR. GEORGE HILL AND MR. CHARLES H. ISRAELS FAVOR A PENDING BILL.

A bill introduced in the Legislature of this State has for its object the institution of a board of architectural examiners, the members of this board to be appointed by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, and to be charged with the duty of examining applicants for a license to practice as architects. The license fee is fixed at twenty-five dollars. Introduced by Assemblyman Wells, of Brooklyn, the Bill seems to have emanated from and to be supported by strong professional influences. Several attempts heretofore to enact a law such as is embodied in this new Bill having failed, it is important to know the present views of leading architects and engineers upon the proposition.

PRINCIPLES RATHER THAN DETAILS.

Mr. Charles H. Israels, of Israels & Harder, 31 West 31st street, said:

"This time seems to be particularly opportune for the passage of such a bill in view of the fact that the Building Code is about to be revised. The defect in the present Code as in all previous municipal building statutes is that it deals with details rather than with principles. As long as the provisions of the Code must be applied to untrained as well as to trained constructors, these defects, leaving little discretion, and troublesome in their application, can it be avoided.

"If the authorities at the Bureau of Buildings can be assured that the man to whom a permit is granted is personally responsible for its faithful performance and competent to carry out its provisions, the necessity for dictating details frequently injurious to the interest of the client may be avoided and a Building Code enacted which could be sufficiently broad in its application to meet the ever changing conditions incident to the progress of present day construction.

"Ex-Superintendent Hopper has expressed his opinion in favor of this principle, and Mr. Randolph Miller, Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Buildings, expressed similar views in an address recently delivered before the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects."

AN EVIDENCE OF COMPETENCE.

Mr. George Hill, of 33 Union sq, says:

"It seems to me that this is the outgrowth of the American idea that whenever a difficulty develops, the proper remedy is to immediately pass a specific law aimed at the specific difficulty, when we should aim to cure the difficulty by the application of general laws or modifications of them.

"The only grounds on which a license law can be sustained are those arising from the police powers of the State, those based on the welfare of the community. We cannot say that art must be of a certain standard, all we can do is to take such action as will make the building safe to use for its specific purpose. That is, we can interfere only with the engineering side of the work.

"We occasionally hear of the collapse of a building or occasionally see evidences of very bad construction, which we are pleased to assign as evidences of incompetence on the part of the architect. Were we fair, we would blame ourselves for the initial error of intrusting work to men whose competence was not proven.

"In almost all branches of engineering, in the law, in medicine, in the management of men, or of large concerns, we require some evidence of competence on the part of the man before we intrust him with the work. In architecture, we only ask that he shall be able to make a sketch or drawing that we think pretty. We are therefore to blame if the natural consequence of our selection happens. That more accidents do not happen is due to the influence of the builder, who usually tries to so erect the building that it will at least stand up. We forget that while art is an important part of every building, ninety per cent. of all building operations of any magnitude are engineering problems, that the art must be very bad indeed before it affects the revenue from the building, while if the engineering is bad to only a slight degree, it will seriously affect the revenue.

"One accident with the law enforced would be quite enough to deter the inexperienced from taking chances. Buildings would in all structural matters be better than they now are, new systems of construction would be tested before they were tried, architects lacking necessary practical experience would associate with themselves men having such experience, and builders who made a practice of skinning work would find their occupation gone. Architects would no longer sell plans, which the owner would subsequently modify to within the danger point, and then in the event of accident blame the architect, and every good purpose of a license law would be secured at very little cost to the State, and without the false pretense of an examination and license, which would mean nothing, and would certainly be of no protection either to the owner or to the public."

Street-Opening Abuses

Delay in Producing Topographical Maps—The Dowling Bill Criticised

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

THE BILL introduced in Albany by Assemblyman Edward C. Dowling, at the request of the city authorities, to amend the Greater New York Charter in regard to street opening matters, should be carefully examined by all persons interested in real estate, as the proposed changes are drastic and completely overturn the well settled principles now governing and protecting the rights of property owners, where the city seeks to take their property for public improvements. The bill comprises fifty-three pages. This bill should not pass.

I will refer to the change in principle sought to be effected without criticising in detail. In these proceedings to-day the court appoints three commissioners, who ascertain the damages done the property owners by taking their property for the projected improvement. After that they ascertain the area of the property benefited by the improvement, and finally fix the extent each lot or parcel of land is benefited, and assess thereon the amount in dollars and cents. By this method we have three independent minds acting for both parties. I use the word "parties" advisedly, as the city now opposes the property owners in their claims. By this method the property owners get as fair a consideration of their rights as is possible.

This new bill overturns this system completely, as it provides for the appointment of three commissioners to appraise the damages, and only one commissioner to fix the benefit and the amount of the assessment. This single commissioner is to be designated by the court from among the three commissioners. This method cannot expedite the proceedings, lessen the expense, is not fair to the property owners, and this in itself should kill the bill. Putting into one man's hands the enormous power of fixing the amount of the assessments which each property owner is to pay, can be productive of nothing but evil, and assumes that the duty of fixing the assessments is mere clerical work. This is not so, as the property owners, especially in the Bronx, well know to their great cost and burden. I hold that the extent and location of the area of property benefited by the proposed improvement is one of the most important factors entering into these proceedings, and should be fixed by the three commissioners who always visit and view the property. We all know that vacant property is not uniform in value alongside the projected improvement, produced either by an excessive amount of rock on one piece or low land on another. It is the assessment that hurts.

This plan of a commission within a commission cannot expedite the proceedings, as the assessing commissioner cannot act until the amount of damages is fixed, and two reports for the court are to be acted upon instead of one. The greatest injustice done the property owners is through the assessments, as everybody knows who owns land in this city, and why we should now be asked to be limited to the decision of one man I cannot understand.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment is to fix the area of assessment. This is unfair, as the Board does not examine the property to be benefited and must take the opinion of the engineer or clerk who has no privity with the property owner. The Corporation Counsel is to procure maps by public letting if they are not furnished within three months. The topographical engineer of the Borough President furnishes these maps, and here the Corporation Counsel is to get them by public letting if the engineer does not do his duty. No saving of time or economy in this, and the person who gets the job must get his data from the engineer—a nice opportunity for graft on both sides.

The crowning change or innovation is as chimerical as it is impractical. The Corporation Counsel is to make up a report before the commissioners are actually appointed, giving his ideas of the amount of damage to be paid the property owner, to which he is to annex maps and diagrams of the property. This is to be an offer of the city. What is to happen after this document is filed is hard to make out, but we do know the property owner does not get his money if he accepts, and the proceedings must go on as though he had not accepted. This plan of "offers" has been tried, and is a failure. The city will offer the lowest price its paid real estate expert estimates, which will not be accepted, as the property owner knows that is the least he will get from the commissioners, and the city's fire has been drawn and will be availed of.

The fees of the commissioners are reduced from ten dollars a day each to five dollars each. This is about what plasterers, ironworkers and carpenters are paid. The property owners have hundreds of thousands of dollars at stake, and should have the best quality of men the city can command to pass on their rights. We have passed through the five dollar period several times, and always came back to the ten dollars. All right to be compensated in a difficult case is swept away. This bill, by the way, reduces the fees of all the commissioners now sitting in all proceedings to five dollars.

There is nothing in this large bill that expedites the proceedings or lessens the expense. It will produce the reverse result. We should let the present well-known and well-defined system remain, and make amendments to better its procedure. The new bill holds the "big stick" of penalties over the commissioners, to intimidate them into doing their duty. It threatens one department if it does not furnish maps, with another going into the open market for men to prepare these maps. This is all bad in principle and in form.

The first cause of delay in these proceedings has been in the production by the topographical engineer of the maps, which has really amounted to a scandal. I have waited nearly two years for maps. The reason is, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would not appropriate sufficient moneys to the Borough President for this work. I have tried to get that done personally, but never succeeded. The Board did not recognize the great importance of this bureau and the necessity for these maps, especially on changes in grade—sometimes three changes in one street. The pay the city offers surveyors and draughtsmen is inadequate, and much below the market. Compel the topographical engineer to produce these maps within a certain time. Provide him with the necessary assistants and he will gladly do it. That will both expedite the proceedings and lessen the expense. Then give the Corporation Counsel a greater appropriation with which to employ sufficient competent assistants in this Street Opening Bureau, so the various proceedings can be pushed and mastered, and his appeal department augmented. The present assistants are underpaid and overworked. Imagine a proceeding every hour in the day except luncheon, and no time for preparation! Let the present department be provided with help sufficient to do the immense amount of work thrown upon them by the increase in the number of proceedings, and let them do their duty and we will have all the reform we need. But it cannot be done by threats of loss of fees to the commissioners.

It would seem that the property owner has a right which entitles him to the careful and painstaking efforts of the best intellect to determine what his damages are by reason of the arbitrary taking of his property. It would seem that he is not entitled in these cases to the calm justice meted out to him in court when he is a party to a suit. No, his rights are to be passed upon as though he were selling pork or dry goods on the exchange. There is more injustice done property owners in these proceedings than in any other department in the city through hasty mercantile methods. Our Constitution provides that when private property is taken for public use the comportunity to a due and careful consideration of his rights. I have served as commissioner in many proceedings through appointment by the courts, have represented property owners, as trustee of lands taken and to be taken for public purposes and owner of some, so speak from personal knowledge and experience.

The Formation of a New Architectural Club in New York.

The "Gargoyles" held their organization dinner and smoker in the Alt Heidelberg Hall of the Hofbrau Haus, Broadway and 30th st, on Tuesday, March 20. Professor William Hallock, of Columbia University, made a most interesting address on the merits of the metric system of weights and measures. Mr. Hughson Hawley added a "bit of color" in harmony with the surroundings. The avowed purpose of the club is to promote mutual benefit and good-fellowship by bringing together the young men of New York City who are working in the allied fine arts, all of which is most carefully set forth in the year-book of the club, from which the following are a few abstracts:

Constitution.—This club is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York under the name of "Gargoyles." The objects of the club shall be the promotion of social intercourse and pensation shall be ascertained by a jury, or by not less than three commissioners. This resort to the jury may be enforced if these proceedings are to become the "dead-open-and-shut" proceedings we hear threatenings of. Let the courts appoint commissioners who are familiar with these proceedings, one of whom is known to be able and willing to expedite them, and there are many, and give the Corporation Counsel enough money to pay his assistants with, and we will get along speedily and with less cost.

The theory of the assessment for benefit is, that the amount of the award for lands taken plus the expenses, shall be assessed back, but the abuses and injustice practiced in so doing is awful, as the already overburdened property owner has to pay the value of the buildings taken, which amount to thousands of dollars, when their destruction is a great damage and of no benefit. The law allows one-third to go to the city at large. All should be borne by the city. Again, the damages done land by cutting up the lots into unmarketable sizes, called consequential damages, is also included, and is often one-third of the whole damage, is assessed as a benefit on adjoining lands, when it is really a damage. This should be borne by the city as well as the damages to the abutting houses, caused by the change of grade, which in many proceedings is one-half of the amount of damage. These and the commissioners' fees and the attending expenses should in all equity and fairness be paid by the city at large. It is time that the rights of the property owners were looked after instead of trying to devise means and ways of grabbing his property, and hastily cutting off his op-fellowship among its members, and the study of the fine arts for mutual benefit and improvement. The membership shall include those who are or have been directly engaged in the practice of architecture or the allied arts. The membership shall consist of two classes—active and associate. Associate members are entitled to all privileges except those of voting or holding office. Regular meetings of the club shall be held on the third Tuesday of each month. The general outline of these meetings shall be conducted in accordance with the program prepared by the current work and entertainment committee. The initiation fee for active members shall be $4. The quarterly dues shall be $4, payable on the first day of January, April, July and October. All regular expenses of the active members at monthly meetings, dinners, smokers and lectures shall be paid from club funds. The initiation fee for associate members shall be $2. The dues shall be $2 a quarter, payable in advance, and they shall also pay at each meeting attended their individual expense.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

New York Central Office Building.

Eventually the office building for the New York Central Railroad, on Lexington av, will have full 20 stories, but the present scheme provides for only eight above the street, to contain the offices of the company and its tenants, and a sub-station of the United States Post Office. It will be rectangular in plan and will cover two whole blocks, 275x462.

Therefore, the steel work and other portions of the structure are designed for the future extension to the twentieth story, and the architectural motive treats the first-constructed portion of the building as a massive base, above which the Lexington av front will be relieved by a facade of enormous engaged stone columns seated in a return of the front wall and rising from the post office to the pipe gallery floor. The building will be absolutely fireproof and will be of steel-cage construction, although the outer walls are self-supporting from the street level to the first cornice at the fourth office floor, where there are girders to carry the main stone cornice, above which the walls will be carried at every story by separate girders supported by the exterior columns. Walls are of cut stone and all of the steel work is thoroughly protected. Floors are of reinforced concrete construction. Reed & Stem and Warren & Wetmore are the associated architects. Mr. Charles A. Reed is the executive architect, Mr. H. G. Balcom is in charge of the steel work and structural designs, and Messrs. Leem & Schultze of the architectural design. The John Peirce Co. is the general contractor.

Plans by Wm. C. Frohne, 24 East 23d st, call for a roof of concrete, an exterior of iron to the third story, then brick, terra cotta and limestone above. Four old buildings will be demolished.

17TH ST.—Buchman & Fox, 11 East 59th st, have plans ready for the 6-sty loft building, 100x87 ft., which John and Herbert de Stuers, of Germany, and Countess Margaret Obendorf, of London, England, will build on the north side of 17th st, 81.2½ ft. east of 6th av, to cost about $75,000. Gustave L. Morgenthal, of 5 West 18th st, will be the lessee. No contracts have yet been awarded.

The Foundation Company has lately obtained some important contracts, as follows: The contract for the foundations of the Royal Queen Insurance Co. building, corner Maiden lane and William st. This work includes the sinking of 17 pneumatic caissons.—The contract for the foundations of 37-39-41 Wall st, the new building for the Trust Company of America. This contract will include a large number of caissons sunk by the pneumatic method and involves the holding up of the heavy Mills Building during the course of construction.—On last Saturday the last caisson was sunk for the department store building to be erected by the John G. Myers Co., at Albany, N. Y. These foundations, consisting of 37 calissons, were put down by the pneumatic process. This is the first piece of work of this nature which has ever been done outside of New York City. While the building is only a 6-sty one, the John G. Myers Co. decided to take no chances with the treacherous soil on which Albany is built, as this company suffered a serious loss through the collapse of their building a year ago, due to faulty construction in the foundation work, whereby 13 lives were lost and 50 persons seriously injured.—The Foundation Company has also received the contract for the foundations for the Municipal Lodging House at 25th st and 1st av. The foundations of this building consist of concrete piles, which are being driven according to the Simplex method.

BUILDING NOTES

March sustained its reputation as the meanest month of all.

The old Morrisania court house has been declared unsafe. This should hurry along the new building.

A moving platform system on the Williamsburg Bridge, along the bicycle path, is favored by Commissioner Stevenson, of the Bridge Department.

The Board of Education has a plan to acquire a site, 300x200 ft., as near as possible to the Board of Education building on Park av and 59th st, for a supply station, and is looking for the money.

Work will commence May 1st demolishing for the 4-sty store and office building, 125x99.11, which Cortlandt F. Bishop, 15 East 67th st, will erect on 125th st, northeast corner 8th av, to cost $125,000. Ernest Flagg, 35 Wall st, is architect.

W. W. Ewing has resigned as Engineer and Treasurer of the Thos. J. Brady Co., 1123 Broadway, and has accepted the position as Engineer in the Construction Department of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co., taking effect on April 1. Mr. Ewing was for some years Chief Engineer of the New York Building Department.

The oldest apartment house in New York is said to have been built by the late Richard M. Hunt in East 18th st in 1869. It was a structure of five stories, with four stories of seven-room apartments and studios on the fifth floor. Contrary to what may be supposed to be the case, it is a much more commodious building than the average new apartment of to-day.

Spring is here and peace is over all. Troubles in the building trades are few and not important enough to affect the general trend of affairs. The structural iron masters say they will be able to carry on their work, some with non-union and others with union workmen. As for the fireproofing dispute, that seems more particularly a household than a public affair.

Number two of "The Skyscraper" is out. The "Skyscraper" is published semi-occasionally, or whenever the editor feels in the mood. In this, the second, number, there is an account of the discussion which took place in London on the occasion of an address on modern building construction by Mr. Reuben A. Denell, late of Chicago, but now residing in London, and also an article by Mr. Theodore Starrett on modern methods in building. Quite as elegant as in the first number is the printing, and some of the pictures are from the editor's own pen.

Mr. J. B. Shaw, who for many years was in charge of a prominent parquet floor company in the 5th av district, has branched out for himself, under the firm name of J. B. Shaw & Co., and has opened an office in the Century Building, No. 1 West 34th st. They will make a specialty of parquet floors of all kinds, wood carpets, grille work, and the refinishing of old parquet floors. During his many years with the above concern Mr. Shaw had volumes of work entrusted to him, which was satisfactorily performed, as he employed none but the most capable and honest mechanics. For the convenience of Brooklyn patrons, they have a branch office at 904 Sterling pl; telephone, 3790 Bedford.

Real Estate Commissions in the Bronx.

The Board of Brokers in the Bronx has passed a resolution establishing the rates of brokerage on real estate sales in that borough. Heretofore the rates have not been well settled for the outlying districts, and it has been deemed necessary to divide the borough into three parts and fix a suitable rate, with a minimum fee, for each, which will be considered the official and customary commission. The territory being large and in part only sparsely settled, it was found impossible in practice to hold, in the suburbs, to the one per cent. basis that prevails in Manhattan and the lower part of the Bronx, the majority of the sales in those districts being small, while the time consumed is greater. No commission rates for selling real estate are fixed by law, but the courts invariably uphold the customary local charges in the absence of a special agreement between the parties to the transaction. The map herewith shows the three divisions of territory and the rate, with minimum fee, for each.

Chicago Claims Leadership in Architecture.

If the architecture of this country is to be kept from going to the bow-wows, in which direction it is headed just now, Chicago must do it. Other Western cities may assist, if they are not effete and are willing to learn. New York and other cities which, architecturally speaking, bound the United States on the east, are powerless to take the initiative. They are to be rescued.

These are the conclusions of George W. Maher, a Chicago architect, who has done his modestly stated share to improve the architecture of America, and who sees a great work ahead of him and other Chicagoans in the same line of endeavor.

Speaking before the Chicago Architectural Club a few nights ago, Architect Maher delivered himself of some revolutionary ideas in an address entitled "The Western Spirit."

"I do not consider myself far from the truth," said Architect Maher, "when I say that at the present time this country is falsely conservative in art and architecture, even more so than any other country. For instance, such seats of power in Europe, as Vienna, Berlin, Paris and London have made great advancement in the arts of a new order, and as a result we find abroad a freshness and vigor in art that is truly inspiring. When we look for an equal amount of enthusiasm and progress from the Western viewpoint, especially in the eastern portion of this country, where, because of age, culture and wealth, one should expect an art development, expressive of a new country, we find just the opposite evidences in all that we see. tionary spirit that prevails there in architecture is lamentable; the desire to copy everything of note that has appeared in the four distant corners of the earth is all too prevalent."

This is where New York comes in for criticism. Specifically, Mr. Maher asks New Yorkers to look at their architecture and tell what they see. He asks them to look also at the architecture of Chicago—the tendency of which New York has dictated to a large extent, as being an older and presumably wiser city—and apologize. "In the business centers," says Mr. Maher, "we find a conglomerate mass of huge structures, most of them expressing nothing worthy of the purpose intended, not even commercialism. There are evidences of marked dissimilarity in architectural thought and the wild chase to combine successfully the artistic with the practical. Columns out of proportion to the scale of the facade, pilasters stretched and elongated, detail and ornament where it has no use and cannot be seen, or if seen, representing garlands of flora belonging to the tropics."

Architecturally, New York is a French, not an American city. It is enslaved by the spirit of the French Renaissance, so far as its building operations are concerned. It fails to "fit the design to the utilitarian idea." It erects skyscrapers in the style of French architecture that originally was intended for three or four story buildings.

"Take the St. Regis Hotel," said Mr. Maher. "There's nothing American about it. It's all French—even its furnishings. A Frenchman put down in the lobby wouldn't know he had left his own country. It destroys Americanism in the Americans who stop there. Before they know it they are talking French and shrugging their shoulders. Take almost any New York office building you choose. Take the Flatiron Building, which might seem to the ordinary observer to be a plain American structure. It has foreign ornamental work all over it and statuary at the top, where it can't be seen except with a spy-glass. As for the summer homes of wealthy New Yorkers, they are built either like French chateaus or Italian palaces. Newport is a horrible melange of foreign architecture. No sane man at Newport would ever think of saying, 'This is my own, my native land.'"

In Chicago Mr. Maher finds the first evidences of revolt against slavish adherence to foreign styles of architecture. It is the "Western spirit." It is the expression of a desire to evolve a sane theory of construction that shall exemplify national spirit, ideals and tendencies.

Marine Engine and Machine Company Expanding.

The Marine Engine and Machine Company has just taken possession of the new building, 230-232 West 13th st, New York City, on a five years' lease, and will occupy it as the headquarters of the Elevator Construction Department. The location in West 24th st had become too small for the company's increasing business in elevators, but it will have the benefit of up-to-date conditions and facilities in the new building, which will be very advantageous in every way.

The extending of the subway system to Kingsbridge is helping Yonkers property, though the full effects will not arrive until the section is finished, as it now stops at the ship canal. Kingsbridge will then be the place where Westchester county commuters will transfer to the subway. Lots in the Lowerre section of Yonkers especially are expected to double in value in the next few years.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

Red ash coal is up one dollar a ton. Glad Spring is near.

John H. Berry sold the Nielson farm of about 80 acres on Quaker Ridge, near Scarsdale, to William N. Heard, of Manhattan, who has resold.

It is reported that the old Livingston estate, embracing 500 acres, near Annandale, in Dutchess county, is to be sold out in small parcels for country seats.

Dealing is very evenly spread out this Spring in Manhattan, and not so "spotty" as last Spring. It is steady, but almost commonplace activity.

The next regular monthly meeting of the West End Association will be held at the Hotel St. Andrew, Broadway and 72d st (northwest corner), on Monday evening, April 2, at 8.30 o'clock.

John H. Berry sold the Purdy farm, consisting of 20 acres, at Mamaroneck, adjoining the Curtis farm, of 88 acres. The property has a frontage of about 1,500 ft. on Mamaroneck av. The purchaser is a Manhattan investor.

Brody, Robinson & Co., real estate brokers, formerly at No. 14 East 116th st, have removed their offices to No. 200 Broadway.

Joseph L. Baum has opened a real estate office at 2322 7th av, where he is prepared to receive his friends.

Mr. Day's Wednesday auction sale was the largest of the season, including about twenty choice parcels, and realizing about $600,000. The bidding for the 5-sty building with stores, No. 85 Nassau st, was exceptionally brisk. The first bid was $100,000. Charles Laue got the parcel for $144,000.

Values in the Jerome av section are said to have increased until single lots bring between $4,000 and $5,000, which were originally obtainable for half the price. It is reported that certain large financial institutions will encourage the developing of this section when better transportation facilities are in sight.

A great deal of the trading for a year or more has been in the old flats and tenements required to be altered by the Tenement House Law. Operators have taken up and exploited these buildings in large numbers. The alterations continue to be heavy, making business both for the mechanic and the trader.

M. & J. Davis, formerly of 2628 Broadway, have moved their real estate brokerage office to 703 Amsterdam av, between 94th and 95th sts, where they will have more facilities for selling, renting, collecting and managing properties than before, and be in a better position to look after their clients' interests.

John Finck, real estate and mortgage broker, has opened a new office at 39 West 42d st for conducting a more extensive sales and leasing department, in conjunction with his already well-established mortgage business, and for the better accommodation of his clients. This will be his main office, but he will retain his former office at 141 Broadway as a branch.

The Dowling bill, providing for a recording tax instead of the present mortgage tax, was amended by the Assembly and ordered reprinted without advancement in the form in which it is expected it will pass the Assembly next week. The amendment provides that the law shall take effect only after the present annual tax has been collected from all lenders who might evade it through having withheld payment of the tax under demand mortgage holdings.

A new realty operating company recently incorporated and known as the Norwood Realty Co. has been organized and has opened offices in the Barclay Building, 299 Broadway, Suite 1319. The officers of the company are Max Liebeskind, president; Charles Flaum, treasurer, and David Kamsler, secretary. They are ready to purchase improved and unimproved properties in Manhattan and Bronx boroughs, and request brokers to send their offerings to them. They will also mail on application their list of holdings to those interested.

New Yorkers submit tamely to many contemptible impositions, for one reason—because they are not organized for defense. Their representatives at court are not keen to protect their interests, and as individuals they prefer to submit to outrage rather than fight superior numbers. But this smoke nuisance may be an exception to the rule, for it looks as if some of the offenders at least can and will be reached. Warrants are to be asked in a number of cases where there has been an unfeeling disregard of public rights and of the law. Prominent individual citizens, as well as taxpayers' associations, have determined to make a stand against this one curse at least, and back the Health Department to the limit. The list of those pledged to the movement for clear skies includes, to name a few, Charles L. Atterbury, Joseph S. Auerbach, James L. Barclay, William Lanman Bull, John E. Borne, William Allen Butler, Jr., John L. Cadwalader, George Crawford Clark, R. Fulton Cutting, Dr. George A. Dixon, Frederick Dielman, Daniel C. French, R. W. Gilder, William F. Havemeyer, A. Foster Higgins, Charles R. Henderson, Thomas Hastings, Edgar J. Levey, Cyrus J. Lawrence, Joseph Larocque, Arthur H. Masten, Levi P. Morton, Dr. James W. Markoe, Charles F. McKim, Henry M. MacCracken, Jules A. Montant, Walter G. Oakman, R. H. Robertson, George R. Sheldon, Francis Lynde Stetson, Augustus St. Gaudens, Philip Schuyler, Dr. Lewis A. Stimson, Oakley Thorne and Tams, Lemoine & Crane.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows;

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2;482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

OFFICE FURNITURE SHOULD COMBINE REAL COMFORT WITH SERVICEABILITY, AND WHEN YOU'VE

found those qualities see that the price is right. My specialty is doing better for the office than any man can. My catalogues give some idea of my desks, tables, chairs, etc., but it takes an actual visit to my place to show you.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.
Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.
Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we given is taken from the instrument as filed.
Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 23, 24, 26, 27, 28 and 29.

SEVERAL weeks ago, when pessimism reigned in Wall Street, and financial writers were all bearish, we ventured the prediction in these columns that an upward turn was at hand, and assigned good reasons for the belief. Since then Wall Street has had an advance in prices, ranging from 5 to 15 points. Three speculative leaders, namely, Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and Reading, have advanced 10, 13 and 15 points respectively, until halted this week by dear money. From now on it looks as though for a while the rate for money will regulate the stock market, and possibly it may be so intended, as many shrewd observers insist that the money market is being manipulated to bring about a stock market reaction. It is charged that the same large banks that call loans in the morning withhold money from the market, thus making a scarcity and causing the very upbidding by frantic brokers in the afternoon, which makes the high rates, whereupon the money is supplied by the same banks which had demanded its return the same morning. Five or six large banks, with their branches and allied institutions, practically control the funds with which Wall Street must do business or not at all. The men who control these great institutions are also the controlling spirits in the corporations whose shares are bought and sold on speculation by Wall Street commission houses, and it would almost seem a hopeless game to seek a profit by buying their shares from them on the one hand, with the necessity of borrowing the money to pay for these same shares on the other hand.

THESE dominant interests would seem to be better judges than the public of values, when they sell to the dear public, which has to borrow from the seller not only to make payment in the first instance, but to renew the loans from day to day pending the outcome of the venture. When thus stated, the marvel is that anybody will buy the leading speculative shares on margin at all, and yet just such a violent upward swing as that of the past fortnight is irresistible, and makes the player indifferent to money rates, and the combined smaller percentages claimed to be against his winnings. To these must be added the state tax on his operation, which, inconsiderable as it seems, still in the course of a year must be a pretty large amount in the account of an active operator. The question now is, what is immediately ahead of the stock market? Certainly, if the current high money rates are to continue, the stock market cannot go on advancing, neither can real estate interests be indifferent to what is going on, because there cannot be at the same time a favorable money market for real estate operations with an unfavorable money market for stock operations. When it comes to bidding for money, the stock operator may be counted upon to outbid all other business interests, and the Wall Street stringency might conceivably reach a point where other business interests would be halted.

LAST week these columns suggested that the new traction issues were not dead but sleeping, and they have duly celebrated the predicted awakening by making a sensational advance of nearly 5 points, and there can easily be 5 points more to come, or, say, 10 points in the Metropolitan Street Railway Company's certificates of deposit. The fundamental conditions of the stock market remain unprecedented. Copper and lead keep on advancing. Iron and steel are strong all the world over. It is only a short time since we read of the demand for cars and engines in Germany being so great that a large order was placed in Italy. Now Italy is here with its Government Commissioner, Signor Francesco Montefredini, to place a large order for cars and locomotives. The whole world is busy, and is getting busier, unvexed for the first time in five years either by wars or rumors of war. Projects of all kinds that have been held back will now be pushed forward, and it may be safely said that every country on the globe in proportion to its means and population is as busy as our own, and nowadays that means the employment of iron, steel and copper. Farmer Benner, in his prophecies, builded better than he knew when four years ago he ventured a prediction covering the decade from 1901 to 1911, and said that the last five of the years of the period ending 1911 would be years of unprecedented iron production and consequent prosperity. It is a remarkable fact that, since the beginning of iron production, the last five years of each decade have been the years of marvellous growth, the first five years being generally stationary.

AN extremely good record in number of plans filed and estimated cost of the buildings projected was made for the first quarter of the year. The figures printed in last Saturday's issue, in the regular statistical table, gave the total estimated cost of new buildings and alterations in Manhattan and the Bronx, for which plans were filed between January 2d and March 30th (Friday) inclusive, as exceeding $46,000,000, which mounts above the record of the corresponding quarter of the year 1905 to the extent of $12,000,000. Last Saturday's filings and the slip applications for minor repairs during the quarter not being included in the foregoing calculation, it is found from the records of the Building Bureau that for the full period and for all operations—including new buildings, alterations and minor repairs (slip applications)—the grand total for the first three months of the year amounted, in estimated cost, in the Borough of Manhattan alone, to $40,206,746, and that for the same period in 1905 the total estimated cost of all operations in this borough was but $28,131,714. The Bronx has not quite equaled her 1905 mark for the cost of new buildings, but goes beyond it in the number of structures, while the alteration work in that borough thus far has amounted to more than three times what was planned during the corresponding period last year. In Brooklyn the projected buildings for the first quarter equaled in cost but not in number those planned in the first three months of 1905, and the estimated cost of alteration work is also ahead of the previous year's record for the same months. During the month of March of this year the estimated cost of all building operations in Manhattan amounted to $14,360,687; in February, to $11,465,221; and in January, to $14,381,838. Unquestionably the weather had a great influence on the operations, for the total for March, 1906, is but little ahead of the record of March, 1905, while the work planned in the first two months of this year is nearly double what was done during the same length of time in 1905. Every promise is that the total amount of general building in Manhattan during the year 1906 will exceed what was given out last year. Office buildings for which plans have been filed thus far have a total estimated cost of fifty per cent. of the cost of all buildings in the same class planned during the whole of last year. In other words, plans for five million dollars' worth of such work have been filed this year, with much more to come; and the estimated total cost of all the office buildings for which plans were filed last year was $9,938,400. Over three million dollars' worth of loft and factory buildings have been planned so far, and about 225 flat, apartment and tenement buildings. Altogether, the promise is for continued prosperity in the building trades, with wages only slightly increased over last year, and building materials not noticeably higher on the whole.

WE print elsewhere some remarks which Mr. Charles H. Israels, the architect, made in an address delivered before the Evening Real Estate Class of the New York University in regard to the Building Laws. Mr. Israels, of course, treated the matter for the benefit of his particular audience, and necessarily covered some elementary ground. The lecturer, however, has shown on many occasions the special interest which he takes in what we may call the legal aspect of professional practice in this city. He was, indeed, we believe, the prime mover recently in directing the attention of architects to the necessity of interesting themselves in the revision of the Building Laws now in progress. He was alert to the importance of the situation, and if the Building Code is to be revised, as now it seems it will be, by a really competent committee, the desirable result will be due in an important measure to Mr. Israel's initiative. This committee in its amended form will consist of two architects, three engineers, two labor men, one lawyer, two master builders. The composition of this body is an entirely rational one. The omission of a representative from the real estate interests is, however, inexcusable, and is not to be defended upon any ground whatsoever. There is yet time to increase the composition of this body, or at least to revise the distribution of its membership. The method of selecting the architects is admirable in principle. The Institute is to nominate five professional men, from whom two architects are to be selected. Mr. Israel himself should certainly be one of the five, and in our judgment no mistake would be made if he were also one of the ultimate two. Mr. Israel stands well in his profession, his practice has been extensive, and he is thoroughly familiar with the conditions and requirements of both the City and the building trades.

The Revision of the Building Code

By CHARLES BUEK

The need of a revision of the Building Code has long been evident to all who have been brought in contact with its intricacies as enforcers or enforced, but where to begin and where to leave off, what to strike out and what to insert, have been disputed questions.

On some points there will probably be little difference of opinion. The oppressive provisions in regard to fireproofed wood should be stricken out, the sections relating to frame dwellings beyond the fire limits should be largely revised in the interests of the small property owner and builder, cement and similar new constructions must be provided for, amendments are necessary to bring it in line with the tenement house law, but beyond these self-evident propositions, will be found various and perhaps conflicting opinions.

It is admitted that our code is too voluminous, too complex. It is more than double as long as that of London (London Building Acts 1894, 1898, 57-58 Victoria), while those of Paris, Berlin and Vienna are still shorter. Our code, whether rightly or wrongly, is built upon the model of an architect's specification, attempting to minutely define every part of every building, and yet to be wide enough to take in all buildings of every kind that may be erected in this, in its architecture, the most varied and cosmopolitan city of the world. The attempt must necessarily be a failure, and yet the code has become so familiar and at least in parts so well settled, that it will probably be wiser to retain its present form. But it should be simplified and condensed, and in doing so a few cardinal principles kept steadily in view will prove useful:

First: To require only what is really necessary for the public safety and no more. This would seem to me axiomatic, and yet has been largely lost sight of in the code and the regulations made under it. That the citizen should be left as free as possible, consistent always with safety, to use his best judgment in the selection of material and appliances suitable to his purpose, and should not be arbitrarily compelled to use others: because some one else considers them better, ought not to require much argument. Yet it is safe to say that antiquated and almost useless requirements of the code and of the plumbing regulations now in force, compel an expenditure in every building erected in New York City, varying from a few hundred dollars in the smallest to many thousands in the largest, that is absolutely wasted and worse than useless, and must be made up for eventually in higher prices and rents.

Second: To make its provisions as general in their application, and clear and distinct as possible, thereby doing away with some obscure and even contradictory provisions, which now cause uncertainty and confusion. Uncertainty is always against the public, as it seems to be inherent in official human nature to construe all provisions at all doubtful against the applicant, and the discretionary power of the superintendents is, and perhaps must be so wide, that they or their subordinates may place any construction on doubtful passages, and the citizen has usually little redress.

Third: The code should be made exhaustive. It should include, as do the codes of other cities, like those of Boston, London and others, all matters relating to building, such as the sanitary and plumbing regulations, vault and bay window permits, etc. The builder is now compelled to deal with half a dozen different departments of the city government, and a dozen different inspectors are required where one or two could do the work.

Lastly: When all has been said and done, however, there must still remain many specific provisions as to thickness of walls and piers, size of spans, depths of beams, etc., to meet the case of such ordinary buildings as comprise nine-tenths of new constructions, such as are usually built either entirely without, or with only the nominal planning and supervision of an architect, and to these it seems to me they might well be limited. But large, important and unusual constructions, such as are and can only be planned by the most skilful architects, assisted by engineering talent of the highest order, might I submit, be safely excepted from the ordinary operations of the minuter requirements of the law, placed in class by themselves, and made subject only to such general requirements as to strength of materials, loads and strains, as have been found necessary in engineering and architectural practice.

While, however, a revised Building Code will be of immense service to our city, it is well to bear in mind that we do not enjoy home rule, and that an ignorant or careless Legislature at Albany may undo in a day what may have been carefully built up by years of labor, and may again fasten on us new departments with new rules, new officials and inspectors to mix it all up again. This we shall apparently always be liable to.

Mr. Israel's on the Building Code.

Mr. Charles H. Israel, the architect, delivered two lectures before the Evening Real Estate Class of New York University on March 27 and April 3, which filled a gap usually found in such courses. It is a curious fact that the lay public, and even those concerned in the real estate business, are frequently not conversant with the business of building as viewed from the architect's standpoint. In fact many people otherwise well-informed are absolutely at sea as to the architect's duties in a building operation.

The lecturer carefully reviewed the methods of working adopted by the architect, explained the mutual responsibilities of the architect and client, and illustrated his remarks by drawings of various kinds from preliminary sketches to full-sized details. He described the sequence in which they were produced, and their methods of use. He afterwards reviewed the business relations existing between the architect and his employer, and described the methods of securing estimates and permits, and followed this up by a careful resume of the business of building, covering the owner's relations with the contractor and the various city departments.

The second lecture was devoted to a review of the building code and a history of the various statutes that had led up to the existing act, which the lecturer illustrated by drawings on the blackboard, while paying particular attention to the points in construction which would be of most importance to the investor and the broker. A review of the tenement house act was taken up in the same way, as well as the municipal regulations governing building operations, and the requirements of the insurance authorities. Mr. Israel concluded by giving considerable sound advice as to the methods to be employed by a prospective buyer of improved property in order to test the construction of his contemplated purchase.

For some years the building public generally have been exceedingly dissatisfied with their inability to secure definite information from the fire insurance authorities as to their requirements, and last year the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects appointed a committee composed of Charles H. Israel and William A. Boring to consult with the proper authorities and to urge upon them the necessity of issuing definite printed standards.

After some months the work of this committee seems to have borne some fruit, and the Fire Insurance Exchange has recently issued pamphlets covering the proper installation of watchmen's service, fire resistant packing bins, chemical extinguishers and safety receptacles.

It is true that the matters covered are not ones that particularly interest the building public, but Mr. Henry E. Hess, the manager of the exchange, has stated to Mr. Israel that these indicate the beginning of the work which Mr. Israel suggested taking up, although they do not touch those features more directly connected with building construction. Mr. Hess stated that in his opinion it was only a question of time when other standards would be issued covering more important matters.

As to Licensing Architects.

INADVISABLE, SAYS MR. BRUNNER.

Mr. Arnold W. Brunner, of 33 Union sq, former president of the Architectural League of New York, when asked for his views upon the bill pending in the Legislature to license architects, remarked:

"I have not read the bill in question, so can only give you my general impressions on the subject. The advisability of licensing architects has been discussed in our societies many times, and it appears to me inadvisable to try to secure such legislation. It would be ostensibly for the benefit of the public, but I think it would fail in its purpose. A bill of this sort would necessarily allow any person now practicing architecture or who chooses to call himself an architect to be so registered. The question of the fee is the least important consideration, but to officially declare any person to be an architect who now practices or nominally practices architecture, I think would be most regrettable. In the various bills that have been proposed from time to time it was suggested that the Board of Examiners should be largely drawn from the architectural societies. It will be extremely difficult to induce the most competent men to serve on this board, which would impose very onerous duties upon its members.

"As a matter of fact, I feel strongly that membership in a chapter of the American Institute of Architects is the best license or certificate that an architect can have. It means practically passing an examination proving the applicant qualified to practice his profession, and it means that his associates consider him worthy to practice it. The public would be equally protected, and, in fact, I believe the public is protected now, as I am told that legally any person can practice architecture and that no bill could prevent him from so doing, even if he did not receive an official license. If the public desires to employ only competent practitioners, it knows how to do so, and no law can prevent the employment of an unlicensed architect or one who is not eligible to the architectural societies."

VIEWS OF MR. GEORGE HILL.

The exigencies of "make-up" in a paper sometimes require that interviews shall be cut down to fit a certain space. In applying this process to the interview with Mr. George Hill, published in the issue of March 31, 1906, we were a little unfortunate, and we think it better to publish the entire interview, in order that Mr. Hill's position may be fully understood. Mr. Hill said:

"It seems to me that this is the outgrowth of the American idea that whenever a difficulty develops the proper remedy is to immediately pass a specific law aimed at the specific difficulty, when we should aim to cure the difficulty by the application of general laws or modifications of them.

"The only grounds on which a license law can be sustained are those arising from the police powers of the State; those based on the welfare of the community. We cannot say that art must be of a certain standard; all we can do is to take such action as will make the building safe to use for its specific purpose; that is, we can interfere only with the engineering side of the work.

"We occasionally hear of the collapse of a building or occasionally we see evidences of very bad construction, which we are pleased to assign as evidences of incompetence on the part of the architect. Were we fair, we would blame ourselves for the initial error of intrusting work to men whose competence was not proven. In almost all branches of engineering—in the law, in medicine, in the management of men or of large concerns—we require some evidence of competence on the part of the man before we intrust him with the work. In architecture we only ask that he shall be able to make a sketch or drawing that we think pretty. We are therefore to blame if the natural consequence of our selection happens. That more accidents do not happen is due to the influence of the builder, who usually tries to so erect the building that it will at least stand up. We forget that while art is an important part of every building, 90 per cent. of all building operations of any magnitude are engineering problems; that the art must be very bad indeed before it affects the revenue from the building; while, if the engineering is bad, to only a slight degree, it will seriously affect the revenue.

"Keeping in mind the preponderance of engineering features, one would naturally expect that engineering knowledge would form a part of the qualifications of every architect. No one supposes, however, that our best architects (in the artistic sense) are men familiar with engineering problems and limitations. In fact, we know that were they compelled to acquire a proficiency as engineers their artistic work would materially suffer. Were it required that each architect should either qualify as an engineer, or should be associated with an engineer, so that the license to practice should secure engineering knowledge, either the liberty of the individual would be interfered with or his value as a designer diminished.

"Coming down to the practical operation of a license law, it is hard to conceive of any means of determining minimum requirements unless licenses were graded so that the man who did country dwellings would have one kind and the man who did office buildings another kind, while the architect in extensive practice would perhaps have a dozen—very much the same as licensing physicians to treat certain diseases only. It is possible to go on and multiply objections almost without limit, making the law on the subject continually more complex to meet these objections until, through its own unwieldiness, it would fall into disrepute and become a dead letter.

"Suppose, on the other hand, amendments were made to the general building law requiring all erections to have an architect of record, and to both the civil and criminal codes holding the architect both civilly and criminally responsible for accidents which might happen to the building, placing the burden of proof on him to show affirmatively that the plans were correct, that all instructions given by him were correct and that the supervision exercised by him was, within human limits, perfect.

"One accident with the law enforced would be quite enough to deter the inexperienced from taking chances. Buildings would in all structural matters be better than they now are, new systems of construction would be tested before they were tried, architects lacking necessary practical experience would associate with themselves men having such experience, and builders who made a practice of skinning work would find their occupations gone. Architects would no longer sell plans, which the owner would subsequently modify to within the danger point, and then, in the event of accident, blame the architect; and every good purpose of a license law would be secured at very little cost to the State and without the false pretense of an examination and license, which would mean nothing, and would certainly be of no protection either to the owner or to the public."

THE QUESTION OF "RECORDS."

THE question of "records" has become one of the most important items in the organization and conduct of a real estate office. It is no longer possible for a real estate concern to adhere to the old lines that were sufficient fifteen years ago. A much higher character of equipment is necessary and, just as telephones and maps have become indispensable, so has an adequate system of records. Indeed, it has well been said that a system of records is as necessary to a real estate broker as the "ticker" is to a stock broker. Conceivably, a man might get along without the one or the other, but it is quite inconceivable that he should not suffer immensely both in person and in estate by the attempt.

There are several methods open to a broker for the keeping of his records. Some of them are extremely expensive and many of them are inadequate and subject to serious deficiencies. What is the best way of dealing with the problem? When people undertook to put together all the words in the English language so that the words might be most easily, swiftly and surely gotten at, they evolved the "dictionary method" as the very best—a bound book wherein all the words are arranged alphabetically. It would seem that the suggestion offered by the dictionary could hardly be overlooked when it came to the making of a system of real estate records. The directory makers, we know, took the hint long ago, but real estate men have been somewhat slower, and it was not until 1899, when the first number of the Record and Guide Quarterly was published, that the public was provided with a system of dictionary records, at once the most accurate, the most convenient and by far the cheapest available. By means of this publication, which occupies only a few square inches on a shelf or a desk, the real estate man is put in possession of a system of records in which he can find any particular transaction, be it conveyance, mortgage, auction sale or lease, as easily as he can find the name of one of his clients in the telephone book. It is permanent in form, ever ready and available. It does not go "out" like the office boy, or make mistakes like the stenographer. The success of the Record and Guide Quarterly is the best attestation of the value of the system it provides. Most of the big institutions, real estate brokers, real estate owners, lawyers and others use the Quarterly, and it has increased so rapidly in bulk that, as will be seen, this annual issue, containing the records for the year 1905, numbers over 1,000 pages—that is, the equivalent of a good sized encyclopedia.

The terms of competition regarding the plans of the new theatre in Central Park West, between 62d and 63d sts, provide that the plans must be submitted to H. R. Winthrop, secretary of the New Theatre Co., not later than 10 o'clock on Saturday, April 21. Only one set of plans will be accepted, the remuneration to the successful competitor being on a basis of 6 per cent. of the total cost of the building and the interior furnishings, but each of the other eight architects will receive $750 for the trouble and expense of submitting his drawings. The instructions make provision for extensive foyers, grand staircases, green room and retiring rooms, also for restaurants, cafes, confectionery store and a palm garden.

The Mortgages Most Preferred.

ARE THOSE UPON MODERATE SIZED PRIVATE DWELLINGS AND BUSINESS PROPERTIES IN CENTRAL LOCATIONS.

By A. W. McLaughlin.

In the course of a talk at the West Side Y. M. C. A. recently Mr. McLaughlin spoke as follows concerning mortgages:

The Mortgage is the instrument accompanying the Bond by which the borrower conveys to the lender certain real estate, and provides that if the borrower defaults in the conditions of the bond, that the lender may sell the real estate, retaining from the proceeds the amount due him by the terms of the bond and account to the borrower for any surplus. If, on the other hand, the property does not sell for enough to cover the amount due under the bond, the lender takes a deficiency judgment against the borrower for the balance due. This is not intended as a technical description of the process of foreclosure, but merely a general statement in familiar terms. In addition to the fundamental provision of the mortgage for the payment of the principal and interest, the mortgage contains certain provisions for the protection of the lender, enabling him to exercise his power for foreclosure under certain contingencies; such, for instance, as when the interest is not paid when due (30 days' grace usually being allowed for this), or when there are overdue taxes or assessments (60 days' grace being a customary allowance for the latter). Or, in case of actual or threatened demolition or removal of any building erected on the premises.

The mortgage also provides for the borrower maintaining fire insurance for the benefit of the lender. This is especially necessary where the improvements represent a large part of the mortgage security. Many years ago we took in our office for debt, as the only thing available, what purported to be a mortgage on a house and grounds in Ossawatimie, Kan. This, understand, was a mortgage already made and for sale. After purchase we asked our agent in Kansas City to go over to Ossawatimie and report on the property. Among other things we asked him to advise if the amount of fire insurance was sufficient. He reported that it was, as there was nothing on the land excepting a small pond. This is an illustration of how the confidence of investors was at that time shaken in the security of mortgages on far Western real estate; but by no means implies that investments of this class, carefully investigated in advance, are not perfectly sound. We took this Ossawatimie mortgage because, good or bad, it was all we could get, and dispensed with investigation beforehand, because it would not help us, but others have dispensed with it, in many cases for less satisfactory reasons, with similar results. It goes without saying that prudent investors on mortgage again invariably make a careful investigation and appraisal of all properties on which they lend.

Mortgages usually contain a receiver's clause, providing in the event of foreclosure that the mortgagee is entitled as a matter of right to the appointment of a receiver by the court for the rents and profits of the mortgaged premises. This provides for the contingency of a defence being interposed by the borrower, possibly for the purpose of mere delay, thus ensuring to the mortgagee the benefits of rents and profits accruing, pending the litigation in the event of his ultimate success. For years past the mortgages have contained what is known as a mortgage tax clause and which, prior to the enactment of the new mortgage tax law which became effective July 1, 1905, provided that the lender could call upon the borrower to pay such tax, and in the event of his failure to do so within a reasonable time, the mortgage became payable and liable to foreclosure.

The new mortgage tax law made it illegal for the borrower to pay the tax, therefore the mortgage tax clause form has been changed, now providing that in the event of any change in the existing mortgage tax law, the mortgage becomes due and payable. There is an exception to this, in the case of corporations who borrow on mortgage, who by the terms of the act are allowed to pay the tax. You will note by this the absurdity of the contention of the framers of the new mortgage tax law that the lender pays the tax. Under the old mortgage tax law the mortgage contained an express clause providing that the borrower pay the tax. The framers of the new law sought to change this and compel the lender to pay the tax, making it illegal for the borrower to pay it, excepting in the case of corporations. The lender promptly met this condition by raising his rate of interest by an amount equal to the tax—in many cases even more by reason of further complications of the new mortgage tax law—and inserting a provision in the mortgage that if any change occurred in the existing tax law during the life of the mortgage, that the same would become immediately due and payable. As a result of its impractical working, there is now a strong demand throughout the State for repeal or modification of the obnoxious measure in favor of a recording tax of one-half of one per cent.

The prevailing rates of interest on New York City mortgages are from 4½ to 6 per cent., dependent upon a variety of conditions. Recollect that real estate mortgages in this State are now subject to the tax of one-half of one per cent. per annum, barring tax-exempt mortgages under the act—which includes certain Federal and all State mortgages, those held by charitable, religious or educational institutions, also mortgages on residence property not aggregating over $3,000 to shareholders, and members of certain building and loan and savings associations. Such represent, however, but a small percentage of loanable funds on mortgage and this tax-exempt provision in their favor enables them to receive one-half of one per cent. net more than their competitors—a condition they have not been slow in taking advantage of. As a simple proposition, we shall say, by way of illustration of the variations of interest rates, that a borrower can obtain to-day on standard and desirable improved Manhattan property well located, 60 per cent. of value at 4½ per cent.; two-thirds of value at 5 per cent.; or 70 per cent. of value at 5½ per cent. The percentage of loan obtainable at these rates is again increased or decreased with relation to the character and desirability of location. For instance, a borrower who could obtain but two-thirds of the value of an ordinary flat house property at 5 per cent., could obtain more than this proportion of value on high class business or residence property, and yet at the same rate of interest. The reason is that there is less fluctuation in value of the latter.

Mortgages are usually made for from three to five years, the shorter period applying to property liable to more rapid deterioration in value, such for instance as cheaply constructed flat houses. A large percentage of mortgages, especially those held by institutions, frequently remain after being past due, subject to the pleasure of either party to discontinue. The bondsman may be either the actual owner of the property, or what is known as a nominal bond, the property being frequently transferred to the latter for the purpose of making the mortgage, after which the premises are reconveyed to the actual owner. This is to preclude liability on the part of the actual owner, especially in the event of sale of the property before the mortgage is due.

Great care must be exercised in lending on buildings to make sure that they are adapted to the particular location; unless the ground value alone practically is considered, as in the case of old and obsolete buildings. For instance, take a private dwelling in a location which has been invaded by business until it no longer is a residence location. The ground value may have increased, but it would be manifestly improper to add to that the value of a similar building in a strictly residence location. Its value in this case is only for the purposes of alteration to a structure suited to the changed conditions, or as a temporary "tax payer" so-called. Factories, clubs, churches, theatres, expensive private dwellings not readily marketable, and miscellaneous structures, are, generally speaking, not in favor with lenders, although standard manufacturing properties desirably located, the buildings on which are readily adaptable to other occupancy, form a frequent exception to this rule, which, like all others, admits of qualifications and exceptions depending on the conditions of each case.

The mortgages mostly in demand are those upon moderate sized private dwellings and business properties in central locations. Probably 80 per cent. of the population of Manhattan Island lives in apartments or flats, hence the larger supply of mortgage investments of this character. Only a comparatively few years ago many of our institutions declined to entertain loans on apartments or flats except in special cases. The increasing value of land has resulted in a corresponding increase of apartments and flats, and the building of moderate size private dwellings has now fallen to insignificant proportions. Lenders naturally express a decided preference for properties in financial centres, on avenues, thoroughfares and at important junction points. I make no special reference to second mortgages, or mortgages on leasehold interests, for the general principles I have alluded to apply to these as well as to first mortgages. For the same reason I make but a passing allusion to building loans, one of the most extensive and important kinds of mortgages we have, without which the phenomenal growth of this city would have been impossible. There is another class of mortgages which is of recent but increasing development. I refer to what are called "Participation Mortgages," viz.: where two or more investors are interested in the first mortgage in different amounts and frequently at different rates of interest, which are the subjects of agreement between them. This again is a most interesting branch of the subject, which, however, can be further treated in our informal talk. I will not here enlarge on mortgages which are given to secure an issue of what are practically bonds, although sometimes called "mortgage certificates," issued in amounts convenient for comparatively small investors. This class of mortgage, however, is likely to increase, as building operations are becoming larger continuously and are likely soon to reach such magnitude that no one lender, individual or even corporate, can conveniently undertake the entire mortgage indebtedness for which they are adequate security.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Labor Notes.

The wage scale of carpenters in Manhattan will be increased in pursuance of an agreement to $4.80 a day on July 1. The scale is now $4.50 a day. In the Borough of Queens the wage scale will be raised to $4 a day. The rate has been $3.50. In the Bronx the carpenters' unions ask for an increase from $4 to $4.50, and in Brooklyn the association of master carpenters have refused to concede an advance to $4.50 a day. Following is a copy of the demands of the unions: "To the Employers of Carpenters in the Borough of Brooklyn—Gentlemen: We hereby notify you that on and after May 1, 1906, the minimum wages for carpenters in the above mentioned borough shall be as follows: $4.50 per day of eight hours, or 56¼ cents per hour, the same to be paid weekly on or before 12 o'clock noon Saturday. Working hours to be between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.; no work under any condition to be executed between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 5 p. m. Saturday; overtime and work on Sundays or legal holidays to be paid for at the rate of double time; only one apprentice allowed to every ten mechanics employed." The Master Carpenters' Association is affiliated with the Employers' League, a central body composed of the employers' associations identified with the building industry in Brooklyn, but not with the Building Trades Employers' Association of Manhattan.

The recently organized conciliation committee of the building trades of New York City and vicinity is endeavoring to bring about harmony and unity of action in labor matters between Electrical Workers' Union No. 3 and the dual union formed under the auspices of the Building Trades Employers' Association, and this was the principal subject considered at the last meeting of the committee, which was at Groll's Hall last Friday night.

Conferences are being held between brick boatmen and owners. The boatmen complain that at times their work is done by captains of vessels and that frequently men are laid off before the expiration of a full trip. Efforts will be made to induce the teamsters to refuse to handle brick should conferences fail to settle the dispute.

The general sentiment at a meeting of brick manufacturers held in Haverstraw, at which the probability of a general strike of laborers in the yards in May was considered, was expressed to this effect: "We will run our own yards, and will take no dictation from walking delegates or business agents. If the bricklayers in New York refuse to lay our brick they will lay no brick. If any difficulty is experienced on the opening of yards this spring, every manufacturer will shut down along the Hudson River."

Judge Townsend, of the United States Circuit Court, holds that the Mason Builders' agreement with the unions representing the bricklayers in their employ is not a conspiracy in restraint of trade, and has therefore denied the application of the National Fireproofing Co. for an injunction restraining the Mason Builders' Association and the various bricklayers' unions from carrying out the agreement which exists between them, and which, the plaintiff asserts, prevents the company from doing certain work in this city. Judge Townsend also decides in effect that Bricklayers' Union No. 37, the only union which has been willing to furnish bricklayers to the National Fireproofing Co., cannot be restrained from signing the agreement with the other unions.

two fireproof dormitory buildings for Syracuse University, at Syracuse, N. Y. Cost, about $150,000.

AMSTERDAM AV.—Schlesinger & Schlesinger, 520 West 40th st, have obtained the general contract for $10,000 worth of alterations to the 5-sty building, No. 32 Amsterdam av, for Rosa Weiss, of 33 Amsterdam av. Fred S. Schlesinger, 1623
Madison av, is architect.

BOWERY.—Andrew A. Smith, 69 East 91st st, has obtained the mason work for a 2-sty store and dwelling, 25.1x129.11, for Charles Gulden, 46 Elizabeth st, to be erected at No. 74 Bowery, to cost $18,000. Turner & Kilian, 9 Maiden lane, are the architects. No other contracts have been awarded.

J. Volk, of No. 56 Beaver st, has obtained the contracts for the removal of the buildings on the northeast corner of 8th av and 125th st, on which Cortlandt F. Bishop, 15 East 67th st, is building, under supervision of Architect Ernest Flagg, and also Nos. 20-22-24 Vesey st, on which Marc Eldlitz & Son are general contractors for the "Evening Post" building.

BUILDING NOTES

J. B. & J. M. Cornell will rebuild their bridge shop, 120x650 ft., at Cold Spring, on the Hudson, completely destroyed by fire on April 2.

Next Wednesday has finally been set as the day for opening bids for 24,000 tons of principally 48-inch iron pipe by the Water Department.

The report of the Committee on Buildings of the Board of Aldermen has been made a special order for next Tuesday's meeting, at 2 o'clock.

Police Commissioner Bingham will soon present to the Board of Estimate a plan for the reconstruction of several police stations, to cost $3,000,000.

Thirteen million bricks are all that are left in the sheds at Haverstraw. Eleven of the sheds are entirely vacant. But there are more up the river.

The architectural firm of Messrs. Denby & Nute, of No 12 East 42d st, will move to more spacious quarters (connected with Architect John Du Fais' studios) on the top floor of the Tiffany Studios, No. 333 4th av, about May 1.

A contract has been made for the removal of the lofty spire of Holy Trinity Church, at Montague and Clinton sts, Brooklyn, and plans are being prepared for tower. The brownstone masonry has been crumbling and falling to the street.

The Bush Terminal Co. of South Brooklyn will make additions and improvements estimated to cost $5,000,000. They are designed much on the same principle as those which are to be afforded by the proposed steamer terminal in Jamaica Bay, planned by E. H. Harriman.

Messrs. De Lemos & Cordes announce that on or about May 1 the firm of De Lemos & Cordes will be dissolved, both partners retiring on that date, and that Mr. R. L. Daus will be their successor, and will occupy their present offices. Any communication will reach them after May 1 at room 707, at above address.

Thompson & Dundy do not contemplate building immediately on the Jennings property at Fort George, which they have taken under a twenty-year lease, though the annual rental of $20,000 is large enough to indicate that the improvement will not be delayed very many years. The George A. Fuller Co. designed and built the Hippodrome, and Messrs. Harry Black and John W. Gates financed the operation, but Mr. Thompson says that they have leased this new property as a speculation, intending to make from year to year the improvements Mr. Dundy and he can afford. The amusement palace they propose to build at Fort George will differ in character from anything in existence, and will be constructed and exclusively owned by Thompson & Dundy. No plans or architect yet selected.

The Rookwood Pottery Co., of Cincinnati, and 1 Madison av,
New York, have received the contract for the faience decorations in the new Flatbush av terminal of the Long Island R. R.
in Brooklyn, which is now in course of erection. The work consists of an ornamental entablature and string course in rich shades of green mat glaze running around the main waiting room, concourse and entrance vestibules. There is also to be a dado or wainscot of Rookwood tiles. The architect of the new terminal is H. F. Saxelbye; engineer, J. Davies, and contractor, P. J. Carlin Construction Co., 1 Madison av. A previous

The annual meeting of the Building Trades Employers' Association of the Bronx was held at Loeffler's Hall, Willis av and 148th st, and the following officers were elected: President, Henry Hollerrith; first vice-president, F. W. Siems; second vice-president, Andrew Mensch; third vice-president, Charles Icker; treasurer, Philipp Freudenmacher; secretary, Henry Wright; trustees, John Frees, W. H. Brandt and F. W. Siems. Strong resolutions were introduced by ex-President Capt. C. Baxter and unanimously adopted condemning the recent alleged misconduct committed by members of the Housesmiths' Union and urging upon the authorities to take action in the matter. At the next meeting the yearly outing and dinner of the association will be arranged. The association is said to be in a flourishing condition, and all builders in good standing, master mechanics and dealers in building materials are eligible to membership.

Legislative Business.

The following is the vote by which the bill of Assemblyman Dowling (Kings), amending the tax law so as to substitute a recording tax of one-half of one per cent., payable once for all, for the tax of the same amount now collectable annually under the mortgage tax act passed at the last session, was passed by the Assembly on Thursday: Ayes, 84; noes, 36. Those voting against the bill, all Republicans, were: F. Allen, J. G. Allen, Bass, Becker, Boshart, Burnett, Carrier, Coon, Cowan, Crosley, Fish, F. J. Gray, Hamn, Hapeman, Hooker, Hooper, Knapp, Matthews, Mead, Merritt, Moreland, Nevins, Phillips, Pratt, Santee, J. E. Smith, Steele, Valk, Wade, West, Whitley, G. H. Whitney, Williams, Wilson, Winters and Wadsworth (Speaker)—36. Absent or not voting—Apgar, Bedell, Beebe, Brady, Burzynski, Chamberlain, Cunningham, Dressing, Farnan, Fritz, Gunderman, Gurnett, Harawitz, Harte, Hoffman, Keyes, Krulewitch, Long, Lynch, McGuire, Oglesby, O'Neill, Rogers, Sammon, Steffens, Story, Tompkins, Waddell and Wood—33.

Senator Tully has introduced a bill framed along the lines of the "small homes" tax exemption. It amends the tax law exempting mortgage obligation on the property used exclusively for residence purposes not exceeding in the aggregate $3,000 on the same piece of property executed by the share holders, stockholders or members of building loan and savings associations incorporated or organized under the laws of the State, the mortgage investments of which shall hereafter be confined to real estate situated within fifty miles of the principal office of association.

The Assembly Taxation Committee has reported favorably the Saxe bill taxing the personal property in this State of non-residents. The bill, which has passed the Senate in its amended form to meet the objections of Governor Higgins, is now on the Assembly second reading calendar.

The Stanley bill has also been reported favorably. It empowers the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity to select areas in the city which will furnish information regarding the waste of water and to attach meters to the pipes at the cost of the city. The result of this test is expected to show how much water is being wasted.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

A good many Bronx builders will go in for two-family houses this season.

The Palisade Realty Co., formerly of 108 Fulton st, is now located in new offices at 203 Broadway.

The city is taking proceedings to acquire title for the purpose of opening Kingsbridge av from West 230th st to Broadway, in the Bronx.

Harris & Co., real estate brokers and agents, of 989 Columbus av, near 109th st, have opened a branch office at 2572 7th av, near 148th st.

The original Dean Alvord tract in Brooklyn, known as Prospect Park South, has nearly all been closed out, only seven building plots remaining out of over 300. It was a very successful operation.

Through an error in our chattel mortgages last week it was made to appear that the De La Vergne Refrigerating Machine Co. had given a chattel mortgage for $25,000. As a matter of fact, the circumstances were exactly the other way. The De La Vergne Refrigerating Machine Co. received the mortgage, and simply assigned it to the individual whose name was mentioned in conjunction with their own.

It is understood that five corporations will be immediately prosecuted in the courts by the Health Department for violating the anti-smoke ordinances. These cases cover various forms of violations. The burning of soft coal is not of itself a violation, but the way it is done. The defendants in these five cases will include the most conspicuous violators of the law, on land and water, and the authorities will have the assistance of the Anti-Smoke League.

To Build Brooklyn Theatre.

William T. Grover, who now controls the Imperial and Amphion theatres and Brighton Beach Music Hall, it is reported will build a handsome new playhouse not far from Fulton st and Flatbush av, Brooklyn. The new theatre will be called the Coliseum. Mr. Grover is not yet ready to announce the policy of the projected theatre. The building will be erected as soon as the Imperial is removed to make way for the extension of Flatbush av. A great deal of property for the approaches of the new Manhattan Bridge will have to be secured before work on the extension can be begun. It is not likely that the bridge will be completed in less than four years.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2;482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we given is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 30, 31, April 2, 3, 4 and 5.

THE rate for money, or rather money, has been king this week in Wall Street, and the unnatural autocratic power it has exercised is against all reason. The Honorable Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, is Secretary of the "greatest country in the world." As such, he sits in the President's cabinet as the representative of matters financial in the United states. Fancy a gentleman in his position repeatedly stating during last November and December, when a money stringency without parallel had everything throttled in this, the financial center of the country, that "the legitimate business interests were not suffering so far as he could observe." We call attention to it now because he is credited with like utterances this week, showing he has learned nothing, and is still an undesirable if not a dangerous man to be financial adviser to the President and the lawyers who for the most part make up his cabinet. Shades of Daniel Manning and Hugh McCulloch, what do ye think of it? Had we had a Shaw instead of these two great financiers at the crises in this country which they rode through successfully, what would have become of us? A weaker President than Cleveland, with a Secretary of the Treasury like Shaw, and this government would have failed to redeem in gold in 1893, and the country would have been overwhelmed in financial disaster.

DURING November and December, 1905, the banks of this, the reserve city of the country, were daily losing money to the Treasury, thus depleting their reserves. These sums in the aggregate reached an amount of nearly sixty millions of dollars, which could have been turned back into the banks and restored to circulation had Mr. Shaw seen fit, and the implication in the interviews with him was that he would restore the amount to circulation when he saw fit. If money rates of fifty to one hundred per cent. per day did not indicate the need and were not signs of distress, it would be interesting to know what rate would have rung the bell in the bull's-eye of his mind. If these rates carried no meaning to him, by their daily "damnable iteration," was there no one to tell Mr. Shaw that such stringency was unparalleled, and therefore must be unusual and consequently noticeable? Did he not know that the rate of interest for money is the charge made for its use, and that merchandise is moved and trade done by the use of money, and when such charge becomes excessive and prohibitive, that business must suffer, halt entirely, or be done at a loss? It will be years before the country recovers from the effect of last November and December conditions. Borrowers have lost courage—an invaluable asset—and the country has lost prestige.

EVERY man who had a mortgage maturing at the end of last year knows whether he suffered in his effort at renewal during the stringency. No financial speculation, be it never so unimportant, but had to suffer, and yet all could have been prevented by a brave Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Shaw regards himself as Presidential timber, and the fear that what he might do for the country could be twisted into helping "Wall Street" was evidently potent enough with him to prevent him from doing anything. He did not heed the cries of distress, for fear he might suffer personal injury to his reputation in extending the necessary aid. What an efficient fire department there would be if composed of men like Mr. Shaw! David R. Francis, former Governor of Missouri, and Secretary of the Interior under President Cleveland, in an interview at St. Louis this week says of the New York money stringency: "If these conditions continue, they will permeate other sections, and the result will be general uneasiness, unsettling of values, stoppage of new enterprises, and an end to prosperity throughout the country." Surely, this gentleman at the head of a banking house in St. Louis is far enough from Wall Street to judge the situation fairly, even were there any doubt in anybody's mind that it is as he describes it. The sale of commercial paper has stopped. The City of New York was compelled last week to borrow $5,000,000 to pay maturing obligations because it was unable to sell revenue bonds even on a basis as high as 4½ per cent. interest. What must smaller communities throughout this great country be suffering with respect to obligations maturing in the past six months?

UNDOUBTEDLY much may be said on both sides in regard to the wisdom of licensing architects. The proposition has been debated and thrashed out many times in the past. It is perhaps fair to say that hitherto the sentiment of the profession itself has been opposed to state regulation, or possibly it would be better to state the situation in this wise: Professional opinion in favor of the licensing of architects has been too unsettled, contradictory, and indifferent to be effective. Whenever the matter has been brought before the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, the Chapter has decided that it is better for the profession to stand on its own feet, and not seek from the hands of the legislature a restrictive dignity already accorded to plumbers and steam engineers, as well as doctors. Last Wednesday, however, the New York Chapter reversed itself, and appointed a committee, consisting of Messrs. Yost, Parrish, and Waid, to appear in Albany on the 18th inst. to approve "in principle" the Wells bill. This action is undoubtedly representative, for certainly the feeling in the profession in favor of the principle of regulation has been steadily gaining of recent years, and needs now only that it should become concentrated and definite in order to produce legislative results.

THE triumphant passage of the mortgage recording tax bill through the Legislature is much the best piece of real estate news of the week. The majority in its favor in both the Senate and the Assembly was larger than expected, and was composed both of Republicans and Democrats. In view of the disposition of the Legislature at its last session, this result could not have been accomplished without the exercise of a very powerful pressure by public opinion all over the state; and it is to be hoped that the Governor also will yield to the effects of this pressure. The mortgage tax law is one of the most unpopular statutes ever enacted by the New York Legislature, and there is reason to believe that the Governor can be convinced both that public opinion is opposed to it and that it is proving to be a burden upon the users of real estate all over the state. The possible substitution of a recording tax on mortgages for the present annual tax is, of course, having a decided effect upon the real estate market just now. Permanent loans cannot be very well negotiated as long as the repeal of the annual tax continues to be a possible thing, and because of this and other reasons many builders are getting along with temporary loans at present, and are hoping to place permanent mortgages on their property on better terms at a later date. Should they fail to do this, as may very well prove to be the case, in the event of the failure of mortgage-tax repeal, a certain amount of liquidation will surely take place. On the other hand, should the repeal take place, it is probable that the builders will pull through the current season without being severely hurt. But liquidation will certainly follow at a later date, unless tenement houses are built at a more moderate rate for the rest of the current year, and during the whole season of 1907. It is the number of new and not very well rented or mortgaged tenements on the market which constitutes the danger of the situation, and in no other respect is the stability of current values and conditions threatened. The liveliest demand just at present is concentrated upon private residences, both expensive and inexpensive, and there are the best of reasons why such should be the case. The supply of private residences in Manhattan is diminishing at the present time, and has been doing so for about ten years. Consequently, when a period of good times accelerates the demand for this more expensive class of living accommodation, a rise in prices is inevitable. Such a rise will continue until the occupation of a private residence in Manhattan will be the stamp of opulence,

The New Rapid Transit Law.

THE Elsberg Rapid Transit bill, after being rejected almost contemptuously by four consecutive Legislatures, has been passed by the Legislature of 1906; and there is at the time of writing no reason to suppose that it will not be signed both by the Mayor and the Governor. The reason for this change of heart on the part of our masters at Albany is obvious. It is unquestionably the result partly of the strength exhibited by the candidates on the municipal ownership ticket at the local election last fall, and partly of the recent consolidation of the Interborough and Metropolitan systems. The Legislature realized that something had to be done to placate the increasing demand for effective municipal control of our transportation system, and to strengthen the hands of the municipal government in its negotiations for extensions and additions to the municipal subway system. So they suddenly awakened to the wisdom of the provisions of the Elsberg bill, and the contracts for constructing and operating the new subways will have to be let subject to the more stringent provisions of that measure.

In the opinion of the Record and Guide, the new bill, with all its imperfections, is a wise, and will prove to be a beneficent, piece of legislation. It means that the policy of the city in relation to rapid transit has taken another step in advance as important as the one which was taken at the time the original rapid transit bill was passed. True, it is opposed by certain members of the Rapid Transit Commission, the advance in whose ideas has not kept pace with the changes which the events of the last few years have brought about in the conditions which determine the value of rapid transit extensions; but if these Commissioners continue to maintain a stubborn opposition to the attempt to obtain the best possible price for the rapid transit privileges which the city has for sale, they must be superseded. Public opinion will recognize that they have done good work in the past, but their useful services hitherto is no sufficient excuse for an obscurantist and dubious attitude in the present crisis.

Almost everybody approves the majority of the changes which the Elsberg bill makes in the rapid transit law. It is generally agreed that the appointment of new commissioners should be placed in the hands of the Mayor, that the plans for future subways should make provision for pipe galleries, that the Commission should not be obliged to let the construction and operating contracts to the same company, and that the local authorities should have the power to construct and operate subways at the city's expense—in case satisfactory terms cannot be obtained from private bidders. The difference of opinion relates chiefly to the length of time covered by the operating contract. The original subway is leased for fifty years, with a renewal of twenty-five years. The Brooklyn subway is leased for fifty years without any renewal. The Elsberg bill provides that hereafter no subway shall be leased for more than twenty years, with a renewal for another twenty years. Both the Interborough officials and certain of the Rapid Transit Commissioners object strenuously to this provision. They claim that it does not afford private capitalists a sufficient inducement to invest their money in subway extension, and the Commission wants at least the opportunity to let the contracts for longer periods. But it is just this attitude on the part of certain of the older Commissioners which makes this stringent limitation desirable. It is evident that they are quite ready to lease the subway extensions on terms similar to those which were obtained for the Brooklyn tunnel, and to claim that the city has made thereby a good bargain, whereas public opinion is convinced that a half a century is too long a time to lease a subway on a basis merely of paying the interest on the cost of the subway, and an additional percentage to provide a sinking fund.

The Record and Guide believes that the course of events will justify the shorter lease for which the Elsberg bill provides. So far as the attitude of private capitalists and that of the Rapid Transit Commission is concerned, it must be remembered that they have both made such grave mistakes in the past that their opinion can hardly be called infallible. The original lease of the subway went begging for a long time, because the rapid transit financiers of ten years ago were too stupid to perceive its value, and as a result of this stupidity the Commission actually begged the Legislature for power to grant perpetual franchises instead of seeking authority to construct and operate the subway for the city. The Commission exhibited at that time, and it has frequently exhibited since, too much deference to the opinions and the interests of the rapid transit financiers. All over the country—in Cleveland, in San Francisco, and in Chicago—experience has conclusively shown that the way to get good terms out of these gentlemen is to pound reason and moderation into their heads with a cudgel. They are so used to extortionate profits that they refuse fair returns on their investment, until they begin to realize that it is a matter of fair returns or nothing at all. There is no good reason why any successful bidder should expect to make as much money out of the subway extensions as Mr. Belmont and his associates have made out of the original contract. No fair-minded person will grudge Mr. Belmont the money he has already made. He deserves it, because he had the sense to know a good thing when he saw it. But his very success indicates that new subways can be profitably operated on a much shorter lease, and he has no claim to profits of 150 per cent. on the money he may invest in new subways.

Leases of twenty years, with a renewal of twenty years, ought to be long enough. The subways in Paris have all been leased on terms less favorable to the lessee; and New York is growing much more rapidly than Paris. By the time the tunnels are built in 1910, New York will have a population of over 4,500,000. Ten years later this total will have been increased to 6,000,000, and at the end of another ten years to at least 8,000,000. In the meanwhile, the number of passengers carried by the local railroads will be increasing twice as fast as the increase in population, and the Great Central express subways in Manhattan will get a large share of this enormous growth in traffic. When a city is growing at such a rate as that, and when all of the subways now planned will probably begin to pay immediately, there is every reason to believe that a lease of twice twenty years will be profitable for the lessee, particularly if the lessee is in a position to combine the operation of the new subways with that of the subway already in use.

The attitude and policy of the Rapid Transit Commission consequently should be something as follows: They should accept the Elsberg bill loyally, and advertise the proposed new subways on Lexington, Seventh, Eighth and Third avenues under its provisions. If Mr. Belmont is foolish enough to refuse leases of forty years, the routes should be revised so as to permit successful independent operation, and the city should proceed to construct and equip these subways at its own expense, leasing them thereafter to a private operating company. The Record and Guide sincerely hopes that it will not be necessary to adopt this alternative, because the subway system of New York will manifestly be of far greater convenience to the population of the city in case it is operated as a whole by the company which controls the surface cars; but it is better to put up with a less convenient system than to allow the transit monopoly once again to make 150 per cent. at the expense of New York City. In point of fact, however, we believe that at least some of the subway extensions will be readily leased for forty years, and that the others will be taken up not long thereafter. Furthermore, the lessee will inevitably be the transit combination. Mr. Belmont needs the Lexington avenue and the Seventh avenue connections so badly that he cannot afford to let them escape. He may try to bluff the authorities into an alteration of the law; but if he does, his bluff should be very quickly called. In order, however, that the city may have the power as well as the will to construct its own transit system, it is essential that bonds issued for the construction and equipment of subways should not be calculated as a part of the city's debt which is included in the ten per cent. limit. Unless the Legislature passes the constitutional amendment necessary for this purpose, the whole line of municipal policy indicated above will be impossible, and the Elsberg bill would probably be a useless and a maleficent enactment.

Proposed Extension of Riverside Park.

A widespread interest seems to have been aroused in the plan to extend Riverside Park, and it would undoubtedly be a very desirable addition to the park system of the city, although the cost would be very large. The assessed values for the year 1905 of the three blocks to be taken are as follows:

Block from West 116th to West 119th st.....	$818,000
Block from West 119th to West 120th st.....	240,000
Block from West 120th to West 122d st.....	640,800

From the figures given in the report of the Engineer of Street Openings, who uses the assessed values for 1904, it would appear that there has been an increase in the assessments for the two first-named blocks, while the assessed value of the most northerly block appears to have been reduced $86,300. This would appear to indicate that the real estate values in this part of the city have reached a permanent basis and are not advancing as they are in the section above Manhattan Valley. It is probable, therefore, in the opinion of Chief Engineer Lewis, of the Board of Estimate, that the cost of acquiring this property would not be more than its present valuation plus, say, 50 per cent., or about $2,500,000. The Engineer of Street Openings estimates the market value, with the expense of acquiring title, at $2,240,000.

All of the land lies immediately east of Riverside Drive and between that drive and the lands owned by the Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University, a portion of the latter being occupied by Barnard College and the remainder by a temporary athletic field. North of West 122d st, the block between Riverside Drive and Claremont av is already a part of Riverside Park. The land is entirely unimproved except for two houses near 122d st fronting on Riverside Drive and two small and unimportant one-story structures on the Claremont av side of the same block. The laying out of this area as a public park is strongly urged because it will preserve the site of the battle of Harlem Heights, including a portion, at least, of the old buckwheat field in which an important part of this engagement is said to have taken place. It is also urged because it will prevent the obstruction of the view of Grant's Tomb, which is so placed that the entrance faces this park which it is proposed to lay out, instead of Riverside Drive itself. It is also strongly urged by the authorities of Columbia University, as it will leave the buildings of that institution fronting directly upon the park and with nothing intervening between them and the Hudson River. They call attention to the fact that the university buildings are separated from each other by open spaces and lawns, so that they already present a park-like appearance. The Union Theological Seminary, when built upon the new site, would have a similar advantage.

The Spring Renting Market

In Manhattan and The Bronx

MAY DAY being only a fortnight away, the spring market for renting and buying real estate has reached a decisive point. In Manhattan there has been this season a greater demand than ever before for business places of all sorts to rent, and in the principal shopping centers a very remarkable business in street and parlor-floor stores, but the inquiries for dwelling property to rent have been fewer than in previous years at the corresponding time, which only emphasizes the fact that for this class of property the regular renting season has changed from springtime to autumn. However, a large number of new apartments regularly come into the market at this time, needing to be tenanted, and these, in conjunction with interborough migrations, are the basis of a great deal of business.

Mr. I. J. Pocher, of Pocher & Co., speaking of the outcome of the spring market, remarked relative to Herald sq, that "the market shows a greater demand than ever before for all manner of business places, especially street and parlor-floor stores. In the best locations it is rather difficult to secure quarters, on account of the increased rentals demanded. The demand for dwelling property for this time of the year is much less than in previous years, which indicates more positively that the renting for dwelling purposes will be almost entirely from September or October.

"Relative to renting for business purposes in this section, the demand is so great that we have found a great many prospective tenants willing to pay the rent asked, even during the time that improvements and alterations are being made. The demand for business places, especially below 34th st, is driving the dwellers of small private houses to the northern part of the city, and the increased rentals compel the lessees and boarding house lessees to seek cheaper quarters further uptown, and we believe that within a very few years there will be but very few buildings used entirely for dwelling purposes below 34th st.

"There is a larger demand for investment property than almost any kind of property; property well rented in fair condition can be readily disposed of. We have been successful in disposing of a number of properties during the last season to out-of-town investors.

"We do not believe that there is as much exchanging of equities in real estate as formerly, on account of the large number of cash investors now looking to purchase real estate."

FEW VACANCIES.

James Kyle & Son, of Lexington av and 58th st, remarked:

"The real estate market was never in a more healthy condition. Several causes can be assigned for this, some of which are: Property is well rented (very few vacancies), and at rentals that show a good return on the investment, tenants are more prompt in payments, due to the activity of all kinds of business, mechanics are getting higher wages than ever before, and consequently are willing and able to meet their obligations in a better spirit than heretofore. Many who have held aloof from investing in real estate are now getting into it as a safe and remunerative way of increasing their income. Quite a number of saving bank depositors are withdrawing their money from the bank and buying small holdings, these small holdings are being demolished and large improvements are supplanting same. Consequently all these tenants are seeking new quarters, which causes the active demand for houses."

IN THE BRONX.

In the Bronx approximately three hundred new houses, of the multi-family type, are expected to be finished in time to receive their first tenants on the regular moving day. Nearly half of these will be found in the Melrose section, which is rapidly reaching over to Port Morris; and the other principal building centres are in the Longwood av section, in Boston road, near McKinley sq, and in the section adjacent to the Freeman st subway station. Most of the new work purports to be high-class, and consequently a schedule of rentals exceeding what has been customary for old houses was expected to be derived.

It is being said for the Bronx in general, as regards tenements in particular, that the old law houses are all satisfactorily tenanted, but that there is some difficulty in renting the new apartments except at a reduction from the schedules originally made, and that a short term of free rent is usually offered for new tenants. It is said also that the new houses are not being sold as easily as last year. A prominent local agent of the East Side said: "It is difficult to rent anything at over twenty dollars. People don't care for steam heat, because they don't get it when they pay for it. But at the rate of fourteen to eighteen dollars I could rent three times as many cold water flats. For this sort of rooms there is no reduction of rates, and no gratuity to new tenants. I think high-grade apartments are misplaced in the Bronx, because tenants expect cheaper rents in this borough than these can be rented for profitably."

All over the Bronx there is a keen quest for small houses to rent and purchase, and general surprise that more are not in course of construction. Brokers have pointed out various sections suitable for this class of housing, and are commending it to builders. It is also being said that, in all departments of building, recent work has been unnecessarily on a scale too expensive for the masses, and that families would gladly dispense with some of the extra appurtenances and ornamentations of the hour for the sake of getting the real substance—an exclusive dwelling place with ample dimensions.

WILL BE LESS FLAT BUILDING IN THE BRONX.

Mr. Edward Polak, of 3d av, Tremont, said:

"The spring renting season in the Borough of the Bronx opened with a number of new up-to-date apartments ready for occupancy. These apartments can be let at a fair rental to the tenant at from $4 to $5 per room, depending on the location and size of the rooms. The lower rents, together with greater freedom and more play grounds for the children and many other advantages will prove an inducement to bring many people to the Bronx.

"It behooves builders, however, to watch the renting market so that they will know when to desist from building. There is some danger of the supply of houses being greater than the demand. This law of supply and demand is a natural law and as immutable as the law of gravitation. It will not do for builders to fly in the face of this law by erecting more flats than there is demand for, because the natural result will be that many apartments will be vacant, rents will fall and values will tumble after.

"In my opinion there will be less flat building this year than heretofore. The demand is strongly in favor of small buildings. Man being a land animal, has that inherent feeling of having a little piece of ground whereon he can plow, plant and raise chickens and have a place where his children can romp and play at will.

"This feeling seems to predominate in the breasts of the present home-seekers. There is one unfortunate thing, however, which I believe is injurious to the real estate interests. That is the cornering of building material by the building material trusts. The cost of building material is so awfully high that it operates to raise the rents on the one hand and takes away the legitimate profits of the builder on the other hand. It seems to me that the real estate interests ought to organize a movement to prosecute the building material trusts for their conspiracy of restraining and injuring trade.

"The present real estate market in the Bronx is fairly active with fair prices. There is no boom, but a steady market. In the upper section of the Bronx, notably Williamsbridge and Wakefield, there is a boom at the present time and prices have an upward tendency. This boom is foreshadowed by the proposed rapid transit extension up the White Plains road and by the third rail electric system now being installed on the Harlem Railroad.

"The Bronx has a population of 300,000, and is the logical and geographical extension of Manhattan, both being practically one territory. It is important therefore that we have the most modern and expeditious mode of transit. As soon as these transit facilities are established the Bronx will grow so rapidly as to exceed the most sanguine expectation."

Builders Have Made Money

Realty Conditions on Washington Heights—Building Operations Started in Dyckman Tract

Probably never in the history of real estate in upper Manhattan has a spring market opened under more propitious circumstances. About 350 buildings, of the class known as the new law flat, are either finished or are now under construction. Those that are finished and that are near opened subway stations, are renting better than even the most optimistic builders and real estate agents have dared to expect. Many of the new houses have been sold to investors, in some instances before completion, and have been practically taken out of the sales market.

One remarkable feature of building enterprise, and it is practically without parallel in new sections of the city, is this: Almost every builder is a man of quite some financial strength, and in spite of high-priced building material, high wages in the building trades, and mortgage conditions still uncertain, there is no evidence of weakness on the part of any of the builders. The bargain hunter looking for a builder in trouble has a long and fruitless search.

I attribute this condition, if it is attributable to any one cause more than another, to the fact that most of the builders now operating on Washington Heights have reaped substantial profits in lot speculation during the past eighteen months. Thus, with their profits in hand, they are enabled to carry through building operations which otherwise would have been impossible, or if not impossible, could not have been consummated without considerable strain and stress.

While the vacant lot market is not nearly so active as it was twelve months ago, there seem to be practically no weak holders in this field either. Vacant lots that are offered at a shade under the market price are snapped up eagerly and are very hard to find. Every succeeding sale seems to be at a new level, and this new level always higher than the old.

While at present there is absolutely no private house building going on, it looks to me as if there would be considerable profit in a few operations of this kind, for the reason that there never were fewer private houses in the market than at the present time, and the demand is very good.

No remarks about real estate in the upper part of the Borough of Manhattan at the present time, no matter how brief, can be complete without some reference to the Dyckman section. In this territory there are two good-sized building operations now under way, one on Dyckman st and one on Sherman av, and unless all signs fail, this part of the city will be the scene of comparatively large building operations in the very near future.

Nature and man have combined in this section to make it the ideal location for moderate priced, multi-family homes. In this whole section there is practically no rock, but good, firm sandy or blue clay bottom, level grades, easy hauls for building materials, all of which combine to keep down construction expenses to a minimum. Here, too, is the only remaining undeveloped water front on Manhattan Island with possibilities for unlimited advance in values. The transformation of the whole Dyckman section, from Dyckman st north to the end of the island and from Broadway to the Harlem River, from vacant lots to a thriving, built up part of the city, will probably come almost over night. Here lots can be bought at prices little in excess of what is being paid in the outlying sections of the Bronx and Brooklyn. And this is surely remarkable in the face of the fact that the Rapid Transit Road is actually running through the heart of this section, with two stations opened and a third near completion, with a surface trolley line running on Broadway, and with a new bridge on 207th st almost finished.

CHAS. GRIFFITH MOSES.

Brokers are finding it more and more difficult to get what customers want in the financial district, as investors are buying and holding every obtainable spot occupied by old structures.

The Central Bridge Section.

The section to the west of Jerome av and immediately north of the Central Bridge is attracting considerable attention just now, owing to the present real estate activity, and many building operations now in progress. It is due principally to the fact that the Manhattan Elevated station at 125th st is easily accessible from this point. Residents on the Heights are able to reach the City Hall with express service in 30 minutes, and require only one fare.

The question of transportation is a very important factor in the development of any new section. The cost of traveling is taken into serious consideration by people contemplating moving to the upper end of Greater New York City. If this matter could be settled once and for all time, the rapid growth and development of this section would be observed with a great deal of interest. It seems as though we are about to have our wish in this respect; the Board of Estimate and Rapid Transit Commissioners have invited to conferences the various property interests, with a view to facilitating the work of construction of the subway route.

The neighborhood of the Central Bridge Heights is taking on an improved aspect already. Two firms, namely, Messrs. Hartman & Horgan, and Messrs. Egan & Hallicasy, are erecting on Woody Crest and Ogden avenue, respectively, high-class apartment houses, making an investment of more than a half million dollars, and, as a result, have a large waiting list of tenants to rent apartments as soon as they are completed and ready for occupancy. The builders expect to obtain from $35 to $60 per month, for 5 and 6-room apartments.

Values have changed very considerably in this section and High Bridge. The prices of lots have increased from $3,000 to $5,000. All improved property in this section is in great demand now, and very little is to be had; all because of the fact that this section is accessible to transportation, as was stated before. If the subway route laid out by the Rapid Transit Commissioners from the City Hall and along Central Park West and Jerome avenue to the Yonkers Line is built, making an almost direct line to the Battery, the time consumed would be reduced almost one-half of what it is at present. There are at the present time large real estate interests in the Jerome avenue section, representing millions of dollars, who stand ready to invest heavily in building loan operations as soon as the transit question is settled. Jerome avenue is recognized as the most important thoroughfare in all of the Bronx, and property interests are ready to back this up at the proper time.

The section known as "University Heights" are about to feel the benefit of the opening of the Belmont Trolley system along Aqueduct avenue and the Washington Bridge, continuing thence to the West Side Subway. This will result in reaching the City Hall from this point in 35 minutes. This section rivals, both in values and in point of location, our far-famed Washington Heights, lying as it does to the west of Jerome avenue and north of Burnside avenue, on a prominence overlooking the Harlem Valley. In the center of this section stands out conspicuously the beautiful building of the New York University, a monument to modern architecture, and surrounded by the homes of many wealthy families. The trolley lines are laid out on Aqueduct avenue, and will be in operation by the first of May. This fact will make property in this section very much sought after. Values at this point have risen from $2,000 to $2,500 per lot. Property sold last spring for $2,500 and $3,000 per lot, and now it would be difficult to find anyone willing to dispose of their holdings for $4,000 or $5,000 per lot. The holdings of such large interests as the Century Realty Company and Henry Morgenthau Company are not in the market for sale at present. They believe that in waiting a little while longer they will reap the benefit of the advance that is bound to come when the work of the construction of the subway is commenced.

Ready for Delivery.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE QUARTERLY.

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly is now ready for delivery. This volume has over 1,000 pages and contains all of the records relating to Manhattan real estate filed in the Register's office during the year 1905. By means of this publication the real estate man is put in possession of a system of records in which he can find any particular transaction, be it conveyance, mortgage, auction sale or lease, as easily as he can find the name of one of his clients in the telephone book. It is permanent in form, ever ready and available. Most of the big institutions, real estate brokers, real estate owners, lawyers and others use the Quarterly, and it would be a valuable adjunct to any financial, legal, realty, building or building material office.

Notable Improvement Achieved in Ash Can Construction.

The attention of the real estate trade is called to the "Arrow" Can, an improved pressed steel ash and garbage can especially designed and constructed to fill the need which has long existed for a reinforced galvanized can with a heavy bottom, medium weight body and strong top ring, heavier than the ordinary household can and not so heavy as the too clumsy engineer's can ordinarily in use. The main features of construction briefly are as follows: The bottom, which is to stand the greatest strain, is made of one solid piece 16-gauge sheet steel drawn to the depth of one inch over the outside of the body. The body is one solid piece of 24-inch sheet steel, with ten flutes formed in it in which are inserted one-half inch iron rods. When the can is galvanized after it is assembled, these rods are soldered in their places, this rod and flute combination forming the strongest possible side reinforcement. The top ring is made with two flanges of one solid piece of heavy steel, and when it is set into place it is crimped over the body, so that the top edge of the body cannot be torn or crumpled; this also makes a smooth edge for handling. The reduced ends of the rods are run through holes in the bottom and top ring and are then riveted, connecting the bottom and top so that neither of them can be torn off. The can is galvanized thoroughly after it is all made. This adds greatly to its strength and prevents rust or corrosion from eating out the bottom. The handles are made of the best malleable iron with heavy clips, and where bale ears are desired for hoisting, the same will be furnished. This can is especially appropriate for hotels, apartment houses, clubs, office buildings, steamboat and railroad lines, meat packing houses, chemical manufacturing companies and all concerns where durability and strength are demanded. For the present only one size is made, 17x24 standard. Covers are furnished when desired. The cans may be known by a red label bearing the trade mark of the company and the words "The Arrow Can, Patented Nov. 22, 1904." Information regarding this can will be cheerfully given by The Arrow Can Co., 35 Warren st, New York.

BUILDING NOTES

V. B. Canfield, architect, of No. 3 West 29th st, will move to No. 333 4th av about May 1st.

It is said that the Board of Estimate will be asked to appropriate $1,625,000 for a new fire alarm system.

The Record and Guide is informed that plans were opened in competition on Monday last for St. Thomas's Church, at 5th av and 53d st, but no award has yet been made.

Nothing was done this week by the Board of Aldermen appertaining to the revision of the Building Code, though the pending resolution had been made a special order.

The Truss Metal Lath Company's offices have been removed to the German Savings Bank Building (Rooms 216-218), 147 Fourth av, corner of 14th st, Manhattan. The business in truss metal laths is one that is constantly increasing in New York, and expanding throughout the country.

Conditions are favorable in most other cities, as well as New York, for another prosperous year in building. Comparing March of this year with March, 1905, Bridgeport makes a gain of 2 per cent., the figures of the two months being $165,230 and $170,095. Duluth has the largest gain per cent., 668, but its building operations a year ago were small, the permits amounting to only $89,831. The permits for last month aggregated $690,131. New York makes a slight gain in spite of the fact that the amount of construction work in progress in the big city during the past year has been enormous. The gain is 2 per cent. Baltimore shows a loss of only 4 per cent., although a year ago the work of rebuilding the burned district was at its height. Terre Haute, Nashville, Kansas City and St. Louis show a big falling off, while big gains are made by Los Angeles, Louisville and Scranton.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

What wholesale houses now most demand is large space on a single floor, and the request for floors 100x100 ft. is very brisk.

De Blois & Eldridge sold for Mrs. Maud J. Tooker her place on the northeast side of Bellevue court and extending to Perry st, Newport, R. I., to Edward J. Berwind.

Bryan L. Kennelly says that the prices obtained for real estate sold at public auction are better than at any time for a score of years. The only difficulty he has is in finding sellers of good property. Buyers are plentiful.

At the public hearing, set for May 4, a strong protest will be entered by many citizens against making a square in front of the Bronx court house. With the elevated road passing the door, it is not thought that an open place would add to the dignity of the building.

The Blalystoker Realty Company sold to R. J. Lewis a tract of 193 lots. The property is situated in Middle Village, Borough of Queens, L. I., and is within a few hundred feet of Metropolitan av. Frank Krevoruck, of 149 Broadway, and A. Vogel, of Glendale, were the brokers.

The auction sale of Proctor's 5th Av. Theatre property, at the northwest corner of Broadway and 28th st, owned by the Peter Gilsey estate, which was to have taken place on Wednesday, was postponed by Bryan L. Kennelly, the auctioneer, until noon of April 25. It will be held at the Real Estate Exchange, No. 14 Vesey st.

In the better class of office buildings the rentals of upper floor space range from two to four dollars per square foot per annum, with much higher terms for ground floors. Land fit for office purposes commands at least $50 a square foot. One office building pays as much as $150,000 a year in taxes to the city, and there is at least one whose rent roll exceeds $600,000 yearly.

An old Hudson River steamboat line (the Chrystenah to Peekskill) has been forced to suspend business because of inability to obtain landing facilities at New York at a price the owners could afford to pay. The steamboat lines find it more and more difficult to get docking here owing to the competition of the steamship and railroad interests, which have more means at their disposal.

O. J. Jenks and G. E. Hathaway have formed a copartnership for the purpose of conducting a general bond and mortgage investment business, and have opened their offices at No. 156-8 Broadway, Suite 15. Mr. Jenks has had twenty years' experience in this particular line. Mr. Hathaway was formerly connected with Alvin W. Perry as manager. The firm have secured a staff of experienced men for the purpose of obtaining applications for loans and placing the same.

It is said that speculators are being nearly altogether displaced by substantial investors in the lower part of Manhattan. Said a prominent agent: "We say to our customers, particularly if they are seeking permanent investment, here is the place to buy; no matter if you are paying the tip top price as it appears to-day, you will realize the wisdom of your decision in the near future. It is like buying government bonds, except that the investment, while just as secure, yields larger returns."

Paul Mayer, the well-known West Side real estate broker, who has for many years managed the holdings of a large corporation in addition to doing an extensive brokerage business, has discontinued the selling department and will in the future devote his entire time to the buying and selling of real estate on his own account. Mr. Mayer is in the market and ready to purchase improved and unimproved properties in Manhattan and Bronx Boroughs, and requests brokers to send their offerings to him. Mr. Mayer will also mail on application his list of buildings, which is a large and varied one, to those interested. He will retain his present offices at 2566 Broadway, northeast corner of 96th st.

The West Side Development Co. of Jersey City Heights is marketing a very attractive property in the form of building lots. It is situated on the Hudson County Boulevard and Manhattan av, on the western slope of Jersey City Heights, adjoining the finest residential section. The streets are flagged and sewered. It is high and healthfully situated, within easy reach of trolley lines to all the New York ferries, and is within two blocks of the southern terminus of the Hudson County Speedway, about to be built. One of the largest of Jersey City's new schools is only four blocks distant. This property is now being offered at low prices, and parties wishing to acquire a home at reasonable cost in a locality rapidly rising in value, will find it to their advantage to investigate this opportunity without delay. Take Central or Summit av cars to Sherman pl. For further particulars see advertisement.

The Wakefield Park Realty Co. purchased the property of Captain Andrew C. Zabriskie, adjoining their present holdings, and comprising about 350 lots. This, together with the property previously opened up, gives them a total of about 1,000 lots with miles of frontage on Webster av, Wakefield av (241st st), Glen road (242d st) and many other sts and avs. The new addition brings Wakefield Park to within 300 ft. of the Wakefield station on the Harlem R. R. The electrification of the Harlem R. R. to Wakefield station will be completed not later than September 1 next, and this will give Wakefield Park a rapid transit service from Grand Central station, with trains running every few minutes with a five cent fare, the time being reduced to the Grand Central to 18 minutes. Two Hundred and Forty-first st (the continuation of Wakefield av) will be the terminal of the east side extension of the West Farms Subway. Wakefield Park on the west side extends to Kimbel av, about 2,000 ft. from Jerome av.

Along the Sea Beach Line.

It has been only for the past few months that speculators and investors have awakened to the possibilities of property along the Sea Beach Line. The course of the Sea Beach Line is the same as the New Utrecht Avenue Line from the New York terminus to 14th av and 62d st, and from that point it branches off and takes a direct route to Coney Island, traversing many fine old farms, which up to a short time ago have been virtually overlooked by the real estate operators. The lack of development in that section is accounted for by the very inadequate transportation facilities prior to the installation of the regular service which has only very recently been adopted.

Heretofore during a considerable portion of the year this section has been practically without any transportation whatsoever, the line having been used only during the busy summer months to convey the surplus crowds to Coney Island. But now the entire section contiguous to the Sea Beach Line, including Mapleton, Marlborough, Jane Robert Estate, South Bensonhurst and many other fine tracts, is being rapidly built up by speculative builders to meet the ever-increasing demand for homes.

Almost every available tract of any size in this vicinity is being snapped up by the large operators, and most of them are being held to await the big advance in values which is bound to follow just as soon as the plans for the improvement of the transportation are carried into effect. The great activity is largely due to the decision of the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners of New Utrecht av for the subway route and of the big improvements that are to be made in the Sea Beach Line.

Brooklyn real estate values in the outlying districts are almost entirely based upon present and prospective rapid transit—the means of getting to Manhattan. There has been much talk of subways, and doubtless these will be built through all sections of Brooklyn at some future time, but for the present Brooklyn must depend upon the existing lines, and actual values should be based on the rapid transit facilities that already exist. From their actions, it is evidently the policy of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad to develop and perfect the service upon the older lines, where they own the rights of way, rather than to engage in the expensive and difficult work of building subways. Since the railroad company commenced the improvements of the Brighton Beach Line one of the largest and soundest building movements has resulted, real estate has more than doubled in value, and there is still a steady demand for property in that vicinity.

Property within a stone's throw of the Sea Beach Line can be purchased as low as $500 per lot, while lots in the territory contiguous to the Brighton Beach Line, similarly located and equally near Manhattan, are bringing from $800 to $2,000 a lot, and are becoming scarce at the former price. Is it not reasonable to assume that history will repeat itself, and that similar results will inevitably follow when the improvements of the Sea Beach Line are commenced?

—Petitions to the Board of Estimate having requested the city to assume 50 per cent. of the cost of acquiring title to White Plains road from West Farms road to Morris Park av, in the Bronx, the Board of Estimate has decided to give relief to the extent of 42 per cent. The reasons for this request were that the present White Plains road includes an old street, 50 ft. or more in width, which was ample for local needs, and that the widening of this street to 100 ft. or more was not a local necessity, but for the benefit of the general public, and that the total awards and expenses, amounting to over $86,000, are assessed upon "a limited area," with the result that assessments on individual lots ranged from $228 to $295. Title has not yet been vested in the city, and the owners claim that since the awards were first made the values have greatly increased, so that the commissioners are about to take testimony as to this increase in value. The length of the street covered by the proceeding is about 1,300 ft., and the total area to be acquired is about 184,540 sq. ft. The statement made by the petitioners that the assessment is laid over a limited area is quite unwarranted, as the district of assessment is abnormally, if not absurdly, large, extending south of Westchester av and including the lots fronting on White Plains road for a considerable distance north of Morris Park av. It is the adoption of these enormous districts of assessment in street opening proceedings, constantly overlapping each other so that the owners of property are assessed for many different openings, that have made these proceedings such a burden.

Extension of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse.

The proposed extension of the approaches to the southerly end of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse, from East 158th st to East 164th st, will mean the acquisition of the two blocks bounded by East 158th st, East 161st st, Walton av and Mott av, and the irregular block bounded by the present Grand Boulevard and Concourse, East 164th st and Walton av, comprising a total area of about five and a half acres, including a number of buildings. The property was assessed in 1905 at $151,300 for land, and for buildings $29,300, a total assessed value for both land and buildings of $180,600. The Board of Estimate has referred the matter to a committee consisting of the Comptroller, the President of the Borough of the Bronx and the Chief Engineer of the Board of Estimate.

The general plan for the improvement is quite an ambitious one, and contemplates the removal of the heavy traffic along East 161st st from the Grand Boulevard and Concourse by carrying the street under the Concourse by means of a tunnel wide enough to accommodate the surface railroads and the heavy vehicular traffic. The grades of this tunnel will be easier than those now existing by which the street is carried up to the level of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse. According to the sketch the Heine Fountain will be removed from its present location north of East 161st st to a location about on the line of the present East 159th st.

A large and elaborate arch is shown about at the present location of this fountain, and the plan also shows a bridge spanning East 158th st and connecting the park at the foot of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse with the present Franz Sigel Park, formerly known as Cedar Park. The sketch is evidently submitted to illustrate the plan for the development of this area if the Board of Estimate concludes to make it a part of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse or the approach thereto, although the proposed treatment of that portion of the area between East 158th and East 161st sts is of such a character that Chief Engineer Lewis thought it might properly be considered a portion of Franz Sigel Park, as the Grand Boulevard and Concourse would end at East 161st st, where it would be connected with Macomb's Dam Bridge by a viaduct.

New City Playgrounds

The selection of the proper location of playgrounds in the City of New York, especially in the Borough of Manhattan, has been one of earnest study on the part of those interested in the betterment of the crowded sections of the city, and the President of the Borough of Manhattan, to whom this matter was referred by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment at a meeting he'd Dec. 29, 1905, reports and suggests two sites in locations where the highest census exists, and where the people who have made an earnest study of this subject are firmly convinced that there is need of public playgrounds. Condemnation proceedings have been authorized in the following cases:

Site No. 1.—Situated on East 101st st, between 2d and 3d avs. On the south side of East 101st st there are fourteen lots which have for several years past been used as a public playground, being under the Union Settlement Society or under the direction of the Board of Education. This property is owned by Mrs. Rogers and has been "loaned" to the society and to the Board of Education for playground purposes, but how long this will continue it is impossible to say.

Site No. 2.—Situated on 59th and 60th sts, between Amsterdam and West End avs, and adjoining property now owned by the City of New York and used for a public bath. It is a vacant plot of ground 125 ft. on 59th st and 100 ft. on 60th st. The population of the five blocks north, east and south is 10,236.

Liquor Tax Law.

In a decision just handed down the Court of Appeals holds that the provision of the liquor tax law requiring the consent of householders to the granting of a license for a saloon within 200 ft. of the entrance to their dwellings refers to the general street entrance. It does not include a rear entrance used by inmates of the house only. The case in question was brought in Brooklyn, and the saloon which was made the subject of the action is situated on the southwesterly corner of a block bounded on the north by a street the name of which is not given, on the east by Prospect pl, on the south by Franklin av, and on the west by Park pl. Certain buildings in said block fronting on Park pl, known as Nos. 629, 631, 633 and 635, are, respectively, occupied exclusively as dwellings. The rear door of each of these buildings is less than 200 ft., measured in a straight line, from the nearest entrance to said saloon, while the front entrance of each thereof is not within 200 ft. thereof. The sole question presented for decision was whether the rear door leading to the back yard of each of said dwellings is an entrance within the meaning of the statute requiring the consent of at least two-thirds of the owners of dwelling houses within 200 ft. of the proposed saloon.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we given is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 6, 7, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

SELL EVERY KIND OF OFFICE FURNITURE but one—the cheap kind—and that does not mean that my prices are high. Cheap office furniture is the most expensive in the long run—my policy is a superior article at a reasonable price, and a visit to my showrooms, 275 Canal St., will convince you of this, I'm sure.
